Marines Open New Hunt in Cong Territory

Jets Pound Red
Trucks at Door
To Vital Pass

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Several thousand U.S. Marines opened a new search operation today in the rice paddies overlooking the South China Sea, while Air Force F105 Thunderchiefs caught a dozen trucks near the entrance to North Viet Nam's landslide-clogged Mu Gia Pass.

The Leathernecks killed 14 Viet Cong, captured five and took 67 suspects in to wait the outfit of a multibattalion search and destroy operation 23 miles south of Chu Lai. The area has been in Viet Cong hands for years.

Ten Marines stripped to the waist and moved with pistols and flashlights through a network of tunnels where they seized 15 Vietnamese suspected of being Viet Cong. Some pajama-clad fighters were seen fleeing the maze beneath the hamlet of An Hai a short time before.

The Air Force jets returned Wednesday to the strategic pass on the Laotian frontier, 230 miles south of Hanoi, where B52s dropped 1.4 million pounds of bombs on Tuesday in the first raid by the stratofortresses on North Viet Nam. Military sources in Washington said some of the big bombs were rigged with delayed-action devices to explode days later, thereby discouraging Communist road clearing work.

The Thunderchiefs spotted 12 trucks on Route 15 at the entrance to the bottled-up pass. At least four were destroyed, an Air Force spokesman said. He also said aerial photographs confirmed that the pass was (Continued on Page 16)

Japan Denies U.S. Tries To Kidnap Envoy

TOKYO (AP) — The Japanese foreign ministry today dismissed Soviet charges that American intelligence agents had tried to kidnap a Soviet diplomat in Tokyo.

The Japanese said the Soviet had been involved in a fight with two Americans and a Colombian, not a kidnapping attempt.

The Americans and the Colombian were not identified, but one report said they were tourists.

A foreign ministry official said the Soviets had not made a formal complaint to the Japanese government. He indicated the government planned no action unless it got a request from Moscow.

The Soviet government complained to the U.S. Embassy in Moscow Wednesday that "American intelligence agencies" had tried to kidnap Georgy Pokrovsky, first secretary of the Soviet Embassy in Tokyo.

Big Plane Era Nearing

NEW YORK (AP) — A new era in long distance aviation will be ushered in by the end of the 1960s, carried at 45,000 feet on the wings of jets seating up to 490 passengers, some in staterooms.

Pan American World Airway Wednesday ordered 25 Boeing 747s at a cost of $525 million, a figure the companies said represented the largest commercial aviation order ever placed.

The new craft is expected to sharply cut the cost of air travel. Juan Trippe, Pan Am chairman, said cargo and passenger costs would be reduced as much as 35 per cent.

The 747, about 2 1/2 times the size of today's largest jet, will cruise at 500 miles an hour, 10 per cent faster than present

Only One More Day To Go To File Your Income Tax

WASHINGTON (AP) — One more day to go, and for the millions still struggling with Form 1040, the income tax men remind you:

Arithmetic — make sure it's right.

Social Security number — be sure you put it on your income tax form and get it right.

Name and address — type or print it clearly; if you have a refund, the Internal Revenue Service — IRS — doesn't want it coming back to them.

These are the most common causes for faulty returns, a tax man said today.

The IRS expects to collect 66 million individual income tax returns this year — roughly 2 million more than last year.

Knowing from experience the habits of the American taxpayer, IRS expected one-third, or 22 million to file their returns in the last two weeks.

However, as of April 8, the last day a count was made and only one week before the deadline, 43.8 million taxpayers had sent in their returns, leaving an estimated 22.2 million still doing their figuring the last week.

Returns must be postmarked by midnight Friday.

The hardest job is not filling out the tax return, IRS Commissioner Sheldon S. Cohen says.

"It is the maintenance of reasonably good records so that you can have the information available at the end of the year," Cohen told a House appropriations subcommittee recently.

As for that arithmetic, Cohen said the new master file system "enables us to verify more completely than ever before the mathematical accuracy of returns filed and to recompute taxes or refunds due."

It's a curious psychological factor, Cohen said, that errors in arithmetic run about 2 to 1 in

Protective League Is Thief's Target

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The "air conditioning repairman" walked into the building and went to work — rifling purses left by women office workers who were on a coffee break.

Police said the thief took $150 Wednesday and left without even looking at the disabled air-conditioning system.

To make matters worse, officers shamefacedly reported, that one of the crimes was a gathering place for off-duty police — men and women — and firemen: the Police and Fire Protective League.

Last year, refiguring of mathematical errors brought in an additional $194 million to the government and about $94 million in refunds to taxpayers who had not expected them.

Famed WWI 'Sea Devil' Dies at 84

MALMOE, Sweden (AP) — Count Felix Von Luckner, who sank 14 Allied ships in World War I without taking a life, is dead at 84.

Von Luckner's death Wednesday of an undisclosed illness ended a life of daring that earned him fame as the "Sea Devil."

During the World War I he commanded an innocent-looking windjammer which carried concealed guns and a powerful motor. Masquerading as a Norwegian freighter, Von Luckner's Seeadler (Sea Eagle) scuttled 25 million worth of Allied ships, but he took their crews — and even their pets — off first and looked after them until he could put them ashore.

"I broke the British blockade with a clear conscience," he said. "No mother, wife, child or father lost a tear."

His ship roamed the Atlantic and Pacific with a 64-man crew, 27 of whom spoke Norwegian. Since Norwegian captains customarily took their wives with them on voyages, he disguised a 16-year-old boy as a girl to pose as his wife.

After sailing 35,000 miles, the Seeadler was wrecked on a South Sea coral reef in August 1917. Von Luckner and five of his crew sailed a lifeboat loaded with ammunition for 48 days to the Fiji Islands, where they hoped to seize another ship. Instead a British police officer and several native policemen captured them.

BATAVIA, Ohio (AP) — They've got a lot of honest people in this Clermont County town.

The unlocked door was not discovered until Wednesday afternoon when a restaurant cashier sent her brother to the bank for some change, forgetting that the bank is closed on that day.

LBJ To Fly Late Today to Mexico City

Informal Visit
Tied to Unveiling
Of Lincoln Statue

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson flies to Mexico City today for a brief, informal stay that may be a warmup for a later state visit.

In advance of Johnson's afternoon departure, Robert H. Fleming, deputy press secretary, twice emphasized that the 24-hour trip is informal and that a possible state visit in the future is under consideration.

However, no effort was made to cloak White House hopes that the President's first visit to a foreign capital will draw a tumultuous crowd. Officials here quoted Mexican officials as predicting 1 million Mexicans will line Johnson's 9-mile motorcade route into the city.

A traditional 21-gun salute and other formal military honors were prepared for Johnson's arrival this evening at the 7,000-foot-high Mexican capital. Aripio speeches were being written both by Johnson and Mexico's President Gustavo Diaz Ordaz.

Mrs. Johnson, flying here from Washington to pick up her husband, will spend the night with him in Mexico's White House — the Los Pinos residence of Diaz Ordaz.

The presidents and first ladies of the two countries planned an evening together before Friday's formal ceremonies — a Johnson wreath-laying at the monument commemorating Mexico's independence and the unveiling of a statue of Abraham Lincoln.

The $150,000 bronze statue was financed by the U.S. government as a gift to the Mexican people, to symbolize principles binding nations of the hemisphere.

Reams Snipes At Rhodes' 'Propaganda'

NEWARK, Ohio (AP) — State Sen. Frazier Reams Jr. says a taxpayer-financed "private propaganda machine" is providing publicity for what he terms a know-nothing governor.

Reams of Toledo, seeking the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, said Gov. James A. Rhodes "knows so little about the details of his administration that he hasn't dared to hold a give-and-take press conference for more than 18 months."

"Rhodes won't answer questions," Reams continued, "relying on his myth-makers to provide the speeches he reads and the great barrage of press releases coming out under his name."

The so-called "myth-makers" are three paid "publicists," Reams said.

Meanwhile, Reams was the target of fire from his primary opponent, State Rep. Harry T. McIlwain of Cincinnati.

At a press conference in Columbus, McIlwain characterized Reams as "the Milton Berle of Ohio politics . . . he's stealing all my lines."

McIlwain said that "everything Reams has come up with in this campaign is something McIlwain said two or three months ago."

Ex-Castro Aide Tells of Decline

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Fidel Castro's commercial attaché in London, who defected and came to Miami, says Cuba's dollar intake is about "one-seventh of former levels."

The exile, Miguel Tarrab Miranda, told a new conference Wednesday that Castro's sugar and molasses sale on the world market will bring him about $60 million this year. About $50 million more may come from other exports including nickel and tobacco, Tarrab said.

In 1959, the year Castro took over, Cuban exports obtained $700 million, the defector said. Tarrab, who was Castro's permanent delegate to the International Sugar Council, added: "This inability to obtain hard currency leads to ever-growing discontent in Cuba, where people lack meat, eggs, shoes, coffee and other essential."

Iraqi Chief Dies in Crash

2 Ministers
Also Killed

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — President Abdel Salam Aref of Iraq, who survived repeated violent political upheavals in the past eight years, was killed Wednesday night in the crash of his helicopter 20 minutes after taking off from a political rally near Basra, Baghdad Radio announced.

The Iraqi Radio said Interior Minister Maj. Gen. Abdel Latif Daraji and Industry Minister Mustafa Abdullah also were killed in the crash near the Persian Gulf port.

Ten persons were aboard the helicopter, and all died in the crash, the radio said. Among them were the governor of Basra Province and the secretary-general of the presidential palace staff. All were burned beyond recognition except Aref.

Premier Abdel Rahman Bazzaz will be acting president until the Council of Ministers and the National Defense Council elect Aref's successor within a week, the broadcast said.

The councils are composed mostly of ranking army officers. Aref's brother, Gen. Abdel Rahman Aref, is chief of staff of the army and had been considered a possible successor to the presidency. The general is in Moscow as the head of a visiting military delegation.

Diplomatic observers in London said Aref's death seemed likely to set off furious political infighting, and perhaps worse, over the succession. Baghdad Radio said a curfew had been proclaimed from noon today until further notice. It asked the people "to be steadfast in the face of this national disaster."

Aref was 45. Since the military made him president in February 1963, he had maintained a precarious dominance over his country's bitterly feuding political and religious factions.

A Pan-Arab group wants Iraq to unite with President Gamal Abdel Nasser's United Arab Republic while a rival nationalist faction is against giving poverty-stricken Egypt access to Iraq's huge oil revenue.

Boy, 15, Sobs As Mother Disclaims Him

CLEVELAND (AP) — "I didn't want him when he was born, and I don't want him now," a mother who gave away her son when he was 3 told a juvenile court judge. The boy now is 15.

"I don't want to be bothered with him," the woman said. "And I don't care what you do with him."

William Meckler, an attorney, said the boy—who sobbed at his mother's words Wednesday — has never known any family security.

Meckler, working in juvenile court on a Ford Foundation grant, said the boy knew an Alliance woman raising him was doing it out of kindness.

"I thought it best to tell him about his mother before someone else told him," the woman said.

After the Alliance woman's husband died a few months ago the boy started having trouble in school, Meckler said. She sent him to Cleveland to live with relatives and he was enrolled in school here.

School officials found that his real mother was still living in Cleveland and ordered that the boy had to attend school nearer his mother's residence even though he was not living with her.

Officials learned the boy carried a pocket knife to school one day and he later was charged with being delinquent.

Delayed Action Bombs Dropped

WASHINGTON (AP) — Communist work crews attempting to clear the landslide-blocked Mu Gia Pass in North Viet Nam are in for an explosive surprise. Some may already have gotten it.

A sizeable number of the half-ton bombs dropped there by a force of B52 bombers two days ago were rigged with delayed action mechanisms, sources said today.

These bombs, which buried themselves in the ground, were set to blow up over a period of days after they fell from the bellies of the giant jets.

Thus, the sources said, there's a good chance the big bombs are raising havoc with labor gangs sent in to try and reopen the infiltration road through the pass that leads to Laos and eventually to South Viet Nam.

There also is a possibility that these delayed explosions might touch off new earth slides to complicate the road clearing operations.

It was reported that about 20 per cent of the bomber force from Guam carried the delayed action half-ton bombs.

The cases of these bombs are so strong that they remain intact even after being dropped from a high altitude and pierced.

Saxbe Urges Hike In Police Salaries

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe, calling crime "the greatest threat that exists to our enjoyment of this country," made a pitch for better pay and working conditions for police officers Wednesday night.

"We cannot be sure of walking unmolested on our own streets," Saxbe said. "You can't do it in New York and you can't do it in Springfield," he told 125 persons at a reception in his honor. "There has got to be more respect and pay for policemen," he added.

Navy Beefs River Patrol

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Navy has started river patrol boat warfare in South Viet Nam and plans to have 160 machine gun-equipped craft ready to run down Viet Cong vessels by July.

Indications are this is only the beginning of a large-scale operation — the first of their kind for the Navy since the days of the American Civil War.

The first two of the Navy's new 31-foot fiberglass, water-jet propelled PBR's (patrol boat, river) began operating Sunday in river waters about 30 miles southwest of Saigon. They halted and inspected 19 junks.

By summer the Navy will have scores of the high speed craft skimming along rivers ing the earth.

The triggering mechanism is a clock-like device that starts operating on impact and detonates the bomb at a preset time.

This technique was used in World War II, veteran military officers said.

Nearly 700 of the roughly 1,400 bombs rained on Mu Gia Pass in the first B52 strike into North Viet Nam were half-ton explosives. A sizeable portion of these bombs were equipped with the delayed action trigger.

Until now, most of the B52 raids, which began last June and concentrated against Communist targets in South Viet Nam, have involved 750-pound bombs.

There appears to be two reasons for the large number of the half-ton bombs used in the Mu Gia raid: the nature of the target and an undersupply of 750-pound bombs.

Solons Debate U.S. Pullout

WASHINGTON (AP) — Many senators disagree on whether the political situation in South Viet Nam may force the United States to pull out of the war.

Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., told his colleagues Wednesday that if the South Vietnamese don't want to continue the war "it's obvious the United States should not do it for them."

Sens. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., and Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, felt that the possible fall of Nguyen Cao Ky's military regime may force a reassessment which could end with American withdrawal.

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., expressed belief at a New York news conference that "intensified military action north of the 17th Parallel is not going to be a substitute for the right kind of political action south of the 17th Parallel, in South Viet Nam."

He obviously was alluding to the B52 bomber raid on a North Vietnamese mountain pass.

Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., back from a six-day visit to Saigon, predicted Ky's government "can survive if it moves carefully."

In the same vein, Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen told reporters that the Buddhist-inspired turmoil may look more serious in Washington than in Saigon.

Sen. Thurston B. Morton, R-Ky., said in an interview he could see down the road the possibility that a new civilian government might bring about negotiations with the Viet Cong that would end the fighting, even though the terms might not be acceptable to the United States.

Poll Pledged In 3-5 Months

Military Junta
To Step Aside

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Thousands of jubilant Buddhist demonstrators marched peacefully through Saigon today in a victory celebration after the military regime decreed elections for a civilian government in three to five months.

A ranking Buddhist leader said the junta's formal pledge "satisfies our main demands."

The willingness of the Buddhist hierarchy to accept the election pledge may mean the survival of the U.S.-supported military government until the nationwide elections. On Sunday, the Buddhists had demanded the immediate resignation of the junta.

When the Buddhist leaders received word of the decree, they at first called off a planned antigovernment march into the city and decided instead to hold a "meeting of good will" on the grounds of the Buddhist Institute on the outskirts of Saigon.

But as thousands of their supporters flocked to the compound in a carnival atmosphere, the Buddhists decided to stage the march as a "victory celebration." The marchers initially were only to go two blocks, but then the Buddhist leaders amended themselves again and let the huge throng walk on.

After walking through some main streets, the crowd made its way back to the Buddhist Institute at dark.

Scores of the marchers carried antigovernment banners they had brought out before the character of the demonstration was changed.

2 Boys Ignore Warning, Die

FERNDALE, Mich. (AP) — James Sutherland, 5, and his neighbor, Mark Snow, 4, were playing Wednesday beside a busy street not far from their homes in this Detroit suburb.

Suddenly, both boys darted into the street. There was a screech of tires as an oncoming driver managed to stop his car just in time.

Witnesses said the unidentified motorist got out of his car, grabbed the boys and scolded them for running into the street. Then he drove away.

Moments later, witnesses said, the boys ran into the street again. This time, both were struck and killed by a second car. The driver was not held.

Police Say Boy, 13, Fires Shots at Them

CINCINNATI (AP) — Police in northern Hamilton County early today were hunting a 13-year-old boy who allegedly fired three shots at a Springfield policeman.

Springdale Police Chief Don Stemen said Patrolman Jeff Herman arrested the youth for shoplifting at a shopping center discount store. While Herman and the boy were on the way to the cruiser, the boy pulled out a pistol, Stemen said.

Boy, 15, Sobs As Mother Disclaims Him

CLEVELAND (AP) — "I didn't want him when he was born, and I don't want him now," a mother who gave away her son when he was 3 told a juvenile court judge. The boy now is 15.

"I don't want to be bothered with him," the woman said. "And I don't care what you do with him."

William Meckler, an attorney, said the boy—who sobbed at his mother's words Wednesday — has never known any family security.

Meckler, working in juvenile court on a Ford Foundation grant, said the boy knew an Alliance woman raising him was doing it out of kindness.

"I thought it best to tell him about his mother before someone else told him," the woman said.

After the Alliance woman's husband died a few months ago the boy started having trouble in school, Meckler said. She sent him to Cleveland to live with relatives and he was enrolled in school here.

School officials found that his real mother was still living in Cleveland and ordered that the boy had to attend school nearer his mother's residence even though he was not living with her.

Officials learned the boy carried a pocket knife to school one day and he later was charged with being delinquent.

Frostburg Gets Snow

FROSTBURG, Md. (AP) — This western Maryland town lives up to its name even in April. Eleven inches of new snow fell here this week.

Delayed Action Bombs Dropped

WASHINGTON (AP) — Communist work crews attempting to clear the landslide-blocked Mu Gia Pass in North Viet Nam are in for an explosive surprise.

Some may already have gotten it.

A sizeable number of the half-ton bombs dropped there by a force of B52 bombers two days ago were rigged with delayed action mechanisms, sources said today.

These bombs, which buried themselves in the ground, were set to blow up over a period of days after they fell from the bellies of the giant jets.

Thus, the sources said, there's a good chance the big bombs are raising havoc with labor gangs sent in to try and reopen the infiltration road through the pass that leads to Laos and eventually to South Viet Nam.

There also is a possibility that these delayed explosions might touch off new earth slides to complicate the road clearing operations.

It was reported that about 20 per cent of the bomber force from Guam carried the delayed action half-ton bombs.

The cases of these bombs are so strong that they remain intact even after being dropped from a high altitude and pierce-

Once Around Roundtown

SPRING, that welcome time of the year, must surely be here...

An indication to this effect is today's initial edition of The Herald's Garden Page for 1966... Compiled and edited by Mrs. Elizabeth Jones, a veteran at the job, it is geared to the interests of all gardeners...

The Garden Page will be a weekly feature throughout the growing season... Today's mainline story tells of the honors bestowed on Floyd Bartley of Route 4, considered by professionals to be Ohio's most famous 20th century amateur botanist... Look for it on Page 10.

Saxbe Urges Hike In Police Salaries

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe, calling crime "the greatest threat that exists to our enjoyment of this country," made a pitch for better pay and working conditions for police officers Wednesday night.

"We cannot be sure of walking unmolested on our own streets," Saxbe said. "You can't do it in Washington, you can't do it in New York and you can't do it in Springfield," he told 125 persons at a reception in his honor. "There has got to be more respect and pay for policemen," he added.

Jackie Ends Vacation

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy and her two children left for New York Wednesday after an eight-day Easter vacation on a ranch in central Argentina.

Indications are this is only the beginning of a large-scale operation — the first of their kind for the Navy since the days of the American Civil War.

The first two of the Navy's new 31-foot fiberglass, water-jet propelled PBR's (patrol boat, river) began operating Sunday in river waters about 30 miles southwest of Saigon. They halted and inspected 19 junks.

By summer the Navy will have scores of the high speed craft skimming along rivers

Poll Pledged In 3-5 Months

Military Junta To Step Aside

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Thousands of jubilant Buddhist demonstrators marched peacefully through Saigon today in a victory celebration after the military regime decreed elections for a civilian government in three to five months.

A ranking Buddhist leader said the junta's formal pledge "satisfies our main demands."

The willingness of the Buddhist hierarchy to accept the election pledge may mean the survival of the U.S.-supported military government until the nationwide elections. On Sunday, the Buddhists had demanded the immediate resignation of the junta.

When the Buddhist leaders received word of the decree, they at first called off a planned antigovernment march into the city and decided instead to hold a "meeting of good will" on the grounds of the Buddhist Institute on the outskirts of Saigon.

But as thousands of their supporters flocked to the compound in a carnival atmosphere, the Buddhists decided to stage the march as a "victory celebration." The marchers initially were only to go two blocks, but then the Buddhist leaders amended themselves again and let the huge throng walk on.

After walking through some main streets, the crowd made its way back to the Buddhist Institute at dark.

Scores of the marchers carried antigovernment banners they had brought out before the character of the demonstration was changed.

2 Boys Ignore Warning, Die

FERNDALE, Mich. (AP) — James Sutherland, 5, and his neighbor, Mark Snow, 4, were playing Wednesday beside a busy street not far from their homes in this Detroit suburb.

Suddenly, both boys darted into the street. There was a screech of tires as an oncoming driver managed to stop his car just in time.

Witnesses said the unidentified motorist got out of his car, grabbed the boys and scolded them for running into the street. Then he drove away.

Moments later, witnesses said, the boys ran into the street again. This time, both were struck and killed by a second car. The driver was not held.

Police Say Boy, 13, Fires Shots at Them

CINCINNATI (AP) — Police in northern Hamilton County early today were hunting a 13-year-old boy who allegedly fired three shots at a Springfield policeman.

Springdale Police Chief Don Stemen said Patrolman Jeff Herman arrested the youth for shoplifting at a shopping center discount store. While Herman and the boy were on the way to the cruiser, the boy pulled out a pistol, Stemen said.

head of U.S. naval forces there. The PBR has sparked enthusiasm among Navy enlisted men — perhaps mainly because they'll be in charge of running armed vessels for the first time. First or second class petty officers are being assigned to head the four-man crew.

All the men of five recent gunner's mate classes at the Great Lakes Naval Training Center in Illinois asked to serve on PBR's in Viet Nam, and virtually the entire operation will be manned by volunteers.

The boat is armed with one twin 50-caliber machine gun fore and a 30-caliber machine gun aft, but its job is basically to chase and search along main rivers — not engage in heavy battle.

Navy Beefs River Patrol

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Navy has started river patrol boat warfare in South Viet Nam and plans to have 160 machine gun-equipped craft ready to run down Viet Cong vessels by July.

Indications are this is only the beginning of a large-scale operation — the first of their kind for the Navy since the days of the American Civil War.

The first two of the Navy's new 31-foot fiberglass, water-jet propelled PBR's (patrol boat, river) began operating Sunday in river waters about 30 miles southwest of Saigon. They halted and inspected 19 junks.

By summer the Navy will have scores of the high speed craft skimming along rivers which wind seaward through the rice-rich area below Saigon. The boats have a speed capability of 25 knots.

Thousands of junks and sampans traverse canals and streams interlocking the river — and many are Communist vessels hauling food and, to a lesser extent, arms northward to Viet Cong strongholds.

In an effort to choke this many-veined pipeline, the Navy is embarking on "game warden" patrols.

Already 750 men are being trained for what Rear Adm. Leroy V. Swanson, director of fleet operations, calls the initial phase of the operation. In Viet Nam the game warden patrols are under operational control of Rear Adm. Norvell G. Ward, FUTILE SEARCH — Authorities searched Deer Creek near Mt. Sterling Wednesday afternoon in a futile attempt to recover stolen property allegedly dumped there by burglars. Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight Radcliff cooperated with other Central Ohio counties in investigating a burglary ring.

County Man Faces Charges In Burglary Ring Probe

John Fitzgerald, 26, Derby, will be charged in Circleville Municipal Court with receiving and concealing stolen goods, Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight Radcliff said today.

Fitzgerald was apprehended Tuesday night at his home by Sheriff Radcliff. Several stolen articles were found in the house, the sheriff said.

The Derby resident is believed involved in a five-county burglary ring, according to lawmen.

Charged in Madison County and jailed in London were James Wilson, 21, Mt. Sterling, and Richard Williams, 19, Grove City. A 16-year-old boy is being held at the Fayette County Jail.

Schools Get $215,879 From Railroads in '65

Pickaway County schools received $215,879 from the $281,069 which railroads paid to the county in 1965 property taxes, it was reported today by the Railroad Community Service Committee of Columbus, which serves central Ohio.

The industry paid a total of $25,141,523 in property taxes in the state last year. Of this total, $16,462,978 was distributed to public schools on a statewide basis.

Poli Pledged

week between demonstrators and police and troops, police cleared the way for the marchers and held back watching crowds as the demonstrators moved slowly along.

The military chief of state, Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu, signed the election decree at the close of a three-day political congress called by the military junta to recommend ways to achieve the changeover to civilian rule.

The Buddhists softened their boycott of the congress by sending a lay observer to the final session. Premier Nguyen Cao Ky summoned the congress in April 3 in an effort to stem the rising tide of antigovernment demonstrations in Saigon and Buddhist strongholds in the north.

Indication that the Buddhists might be willing to take the government at its word came from two key members of the hierarchy.

Thich (Venerable) Tam Chau, the chairman of the Buddhist Institute, said in a public letter to the coleader of the recently formed antigovernment Buddhist Struggle Forces, Thich Thien Minh:

"The decree indicates that the government has agreed to some proposals asked for by the Buddhist people and also informed us that a national assembly will be formed in the near future.

"The Buddhist Institute wishes to inform all branches of the faith about this development. All demonstrations planned this afternoon should be called off, and a meeting held instead in the institute grounds to show our good will."

Ho Giac, the other coleader of the Buddhist Struggle Forces and director of lay affairs for the Buddhist Institute, said the military government had "satisfied our main demands."

"The main point of the Buddhist struggle was for general elections as soon as possible," he added. The government decree will give us these elections in the next three to five months. Therefore, our main aims have been met."

Pointing Gun Draws Fine

Roger N. Fausnaugh, 923 Clinton St., was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to six months in the County Jail Wednesday by Municipal Judge Sterling M. Lamb.

Fausnaugh was cited into court by Chief of Police Robert Temple for pointing a shotgun toward Bonnie Reed.

Fausnaugh entered a plea of innocent to the charge. Judge Lamb suspended the jail sentence and placed the defendant on probation for one year.

Driver Fined $100 for Lack Of License

Ronald Lee White, 23, Chillicothe, was fined $100 and costs today in Circleville Municipal Court when he entered a plea of guilty to driving without a license.

Judge Sterling M. Lamb noted White had not owned a driver's license for more than three years. He was cited by Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff Homer Adams.

Other motorists listed on the completed court traffic docket were: Anthony Valentino, 20, Columbus; $24 bond forfeiture for speeding 75 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

Charles Branson, 21, Columbus; $10 and costs for operating a motor vehicle at a speed excessive for existing road conditions.

Charles Cochran, Lockbourne Air Force Base; $10 and costs for disturbing the peace by making unnecessary noise with a motor vehicle and $20 and costs for speeding 45 miles per hour in a 25 mile zone.

Safety Check Results Sent To City Mayor

Circleville Mayor Ben H. Gordon has received reports on safety surveys of various city departments conducted recently by the Division of Safety and Hygiene of The Industrial Commission of Ohio.

The reports listed recommendations in each of the city departments that would help curtail accidents due to a lack of safety equipment or improper safety practices.

Raymond F. Swarner, safety adviser for the Division of Safety and Hygiene, noted in his report to Mayor Gordon that it would be advisable to establish a pre-employment physical examination program in all departments. This should include X-rays of the back and chest, he suggested.

"This program would reduce the possibility of hiring an applicant for city employment who may have an injury or injury claims pending prior to employment with the city," the letter continued. "And the city should also exercise the prerogative of naming the examining physician."

OTHER recommendations included: each department head should be required to investigate and submit a written report of all accidents and accidents with injuries occurring; to establish an Employee Safety Committee which would represent each department; and to take advantage of the Supervisors Safety Training Course as provided and conducted by qualified instructors of the Division of Safety and Hygiene, The Industrial Commission of Ohio.

Surveys were conducted in the service department, water treatment plant, city hall, sewage treatment plant, fire department and police department.

In his report of the sewage treatment plant, Swarner said that he was impressed by the "efficiency and housekeeping at the plant. Roy Hawks, superintendent, is to be highly commended, as this is one of the cleanest plants in Ohio."

Dog Owner Fined

George Johnson, 201 Harrison St., was fined $5 and costs in Circleville Municipal Court today when he was found guilty of failing to purchase a 1966 dog license.

FUTILE SEARCH — Authorities searched Deer Creek near Mt. Sterling Wednesday afternoon in a futile attempt to recover stolen property allegedly dumped there by burglars. Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight Radcliff cooperated with other Central Ohio counties in investigating a burglary ring.

County Man Faces Charges In Burglary Ring Probe

John Fitzgerald, 26, Derby, will be charged in Circleville Municipal Court with receiving and concealing stolen goods. Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight Radcliff said today.

Fitzgerald was apprehended Tuesday night at his home by Sheriff Radcliff. Several stolen articles were found in the house, the sheriff said.

The Derby resident is believed involved in a five-county burglary ring, according to lawmen.

Charged in Madison County and jailed in London were James Wilson, 21, Mt. Sterling, and Richard Williams, 19, Grove City. A 16-year-old boy is being held at the Fayette County Jail.

SCUBA divers yesterday searched Deer Creek near Mt. Sterling where stolen property allegedly was disposed of about two weeks ago. However, nothing was found at the site.

One of the men arrested reportedly told Madison County authorities the goods were thrown in a creek.

A preliminary hearing for Fitzgerald in Circleville Municipal Court has been tentatively scheduled Tuesday morning. As yet, none of the other sheriffs in counties involved have filed against the local man.

The quartet allegedly has burglarized homes and stores in Pickaway, Madison, Fayette, Highland and Franklin counties during the past year.

Radcliff cooperated with Fayette, Madison, Clinton, Highland and Franklin County authorities in the investigation.

Burglary Case Referred to Jury

Donald Preston, Columbus, was bound to the next term of the grand jury under $3,500 bond Wednesday by Municipal Judge Sterling M. Lamb.

Preston entered a plea of innocent to a charge of breaking and entering a vending machine at Porter Laundry on the night of Mar. 26.

The charge was filed by Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff George Linder.

5 Participate In Science Day

Five area students will enter projects in the 18th annual State Science Day Saturday at the Ohio Expositions Center, Columbus.

The annual event is sponsored by the junior division of the Ohio Academy of Science.

Local students and their areas of participation are as follows: Marion Brehmer, Circleville, physics; John Cook, Westfall, zoology; Tom Green, Westfall, zoology; Bruce D. Pearl, Westfall, earth science; and Larry A. Wrightsel, chemistry.

Director of the Science Day event is Gerald Acker, professor of biology at Bowling Green State University.

Schools Get $215,879 From Railroads in '65

Pickaway County schools received $215,879 from the $281,069 which railroads paid to the county in 1965 property taxes, it was reported today by the Railroad Community Service Committee of Columbus, which serves central Ohio.

The industry paid a total of $25,141,523 in property taxes in the state last year. Of this total, $16,462,978 was distributed to public schools on a statewide basis.

Poll Pledged

week between demonstrators and police and troops, police cleared the way for the marchers and held back watching crowds as the demonstrators moved slowly along.

The military chief of state, Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu, signed the election decree at the close of a three-day political congress called by the military junta to recommend ways to achieve the changeover to civilian rule.

The Buddhists softened their boycott of the congress by sending a lay observer to the final session. Premier Nguyen Cao Ky summoned the congress in April 3 in an effort to stem the rising tide of antigovernment demonstrations in Saigon and Buddhist strongholds in the north.

Indication that the Buddhists might be willing to take the government at its word came from two key members of the hierarchy.

Thich (Venerable) Tam Chau, the chairman of the Buddhist Institute, said in a public letter to the co-leader of the recently formed antigovernment Buddhist Struggle Forces, Thich Thien Minh:

"The decree indicates that the government has agreed to some proposals asked for by the Buddhist people and also informed us that a national assembly will be formed in the near future.

"The Buddhist Institute wishes to inform all branches of the faith about this development. All demonstrations planned this afternoon should be called off, and a meeting held instead in the institute grounds to show our good will."

Ho Giac, the other co-leader of the Buddhist Struggle Forces and director of lay affairs for the Buddhist Institute, said the military government had "satisfied our main demands."

"The main point of the Buddhist struggle was for general elections as soon as possible," he added. The government decree will give these elections in the next three to five months. Therefore, our main aims have been met."

Pointing Gun Draws Fine

Roger N. Fausnaugh, 923 Clinton St., was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to six months in the County Jail Wednesday by Municipal Judge Sterling M. Lamb.

Fausnaugh was cited into court by Chief of Police Robert Temple for pointing a .38-caliber handgun toward Bonnie Reed.

Fausnaugh entered a plea of innocent to the charge. Judge Lamb suspended the jail sentence and placed the defendant on probation for one year.

Driver Fined $100 for Lack Of License

Ronald Lee White, 23, Chillicothe, was fined $100 and costs today in Circleville Municipal Court when he entered a plea of guilty to driving without a license.

Judge Sterling M. Lamb noted White had not owned a driver's license for more than three years. He was cited by Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff Homer Adams.

Other motorists listed on the completed court traffic docket were:

Anthony Valentino, 20, Columbus; $24 bond forfeiture for speeding 75 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

Charles Branson, 21, Columbus; $10 and costs for operating a motor vehicle at a speed excessive for existing road conditions.

Charles Cochran, Lockbourne Air Force Base; $10 and costs for disturbing the peace by making unnecessary noise with a motor vehicle and $20 and costs for speeding 45 miles per hour in a 25 mile zone.

Stephen Baker, 21, Columbus, $15 and costs for speeding 75 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

How's That Again?

Recently a British maritime affairs magazine carried a naval story that must have set many a Jack Tar wondering if the swing away from aircraft carriers isn't a good thing after all.

Reprinted was a memo of instruction for the seaborne stowage of ballistic missiles.

"It is necessary for technical reasons that these warheads be stowed upside down, that is with the top at the bottom and the bottom at the top. In order that there may be no doubt as to which is the bottom and which is the top, for storage purposes, it will be seen that the bottom of each casing has been labeled 'Top'."

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "It's a nice job," Joe Pasternak observed ruefully, "for making enemies."

It seemed an unlikely statement from Pasternak, the friendly, Hungarian-born producer who has made sunny musicals with well-fed songstresses from Deanna Durbin ("Three Smart Girls") to Ann-Margret ("Made in Paris"). He was referring to his extra-curricular post as producer of the Academy Award telecast.

"I was out of my mind to accept the job last year," he said. "Then I agreed to do it again this year. What was I thinking of?"

After his exercise in Hollywood hyperbole, he admitted that the assignment was a challenging and sometimes satisfying one. Especially if the show comes off well, as it did last year.

"I think Monday night's show will be just as good," said the producer. "We'll have a few surprises, but there's not much you can do that is different. Any major change in the presentation requires a vote of the board of directors, so we're stuck with the same format."

"Within that framework, I think the Oscarcast is a good show. The main thing we try to do is present and entertaining program while preserving the torch, and he will be joined by Hope is great for that purpose."

Hope will again be conducting the festivities next Monday at the Santa Monica Civic Auditorium, and he will be joined by 40 other top names. Included are all of last year's acting winners: Julie Andrews, Rex Harrison, Lila Kedrova and Peter Ustinov.

Casting singers for the nominated songs is the area where the producer fear that he creates enemies. He turned down one big name because the singer had been featured on recent Oscarcasts. Another top recording artist was rejected because he would appear only if he sang all five songs.

"Everyone wants to sing the song that is the favorite to win," Pasternak remarked. "This year it seems to be 'The Shadow of Your Smile.'"

He handed the assignment to Barbara McNair, who has a way with a ballad. Robert Goulet sings "The Sweetheart Tree" — "because it calls for a romantic voice."

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

HERE ARE a couple of stories told on a "cowboy" TV program within the past fortnight, and though they date all the way back to either Joe Miller or his father, they still were good for non-sound-track laughs:

1. Poker game in a rootin', tootin' Wild West saloon. Seven participants, including the sheriff. One shift-eyed player—the sole winner at the table—has only one eye. Sheriff lays his pearl-handled six-shooter on the table, deals, and announces, "Efn I catch any so and so cheating on this hand, I'll shoot his other eye out!"

2. Wondered the parson, "Whatever can have become of Three-Finger Mulvaney?" Spoke up a bar fly, "I got an idea, Parson. He came to town last Saturday, got lickered up, stuck his head out of a second-story window, and hollered 'Fire.' I reckon a couple of the boys took him at his word."

QUOTABLE:

"A producer once flattered me by assuring me I was the wit of two continents. Then I discovered he meant Africa and Asia." —Harry Kurnitz.

"All of us remain children most of our lives, seeking praise at any cost, relishing it most when it is deserved, taking it, nevertheless, when it is not deserved, and resenting criticism as being unfriendly, if not criminal." —Herbert Bayard.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

What is meant of traumatic neurosis?

Mrs. W. R. C., Ohio

Dear Mrs. C.: A trauma means an injury. An injury can cause slight damage like a bruise or may be severe and produce a fracture of a bone.

The incapacitation of the body,

therefore, depends on the severity of the injury or the trauma.

Just as there can be physical injuries, there can also be emotional injuries. These, too, vary in severity and in their effect on the sensitive psyche, or emotions.

A child may be deeply distressed because her favorite doll has been broken or lost.

This is a trauma. When a child has been unprepared for an operation like the removal of her tonsils, this, too, is obviously a trauma of greater severity.

A severe emotional experience that affects our capacity to function in our home, in our job and in our community can produce a traumatic neurosis.

When such an experience produces apprehensions, fears and anxieties that affect the total enjoyment of life, they have incapacitated us to the same degree

as a severe fracture.

Emotional hurts or trauma need the same, or even more, help for total recovery. It is, therefore, no shame to seek such help for the injured or traumatized emotions.

What is a fungus infection of the ear? What causes it and how can it be cured?

Mrs. C. T. H., Georgia

Dear Mrs. H.: Infections can be caused by a germ, a fungus, a mold or a yeast.

There are thousands of fungi, most of which do not cause any disease in man. They grow best in warm, moist areas.

The skin of the outer ear canal seems to be an ideal location for the growth of some kinds of fungus. When there is a chronic ear discharge from infection, accumulated wax, or water from swimming, the fungus may set up housekeeping and thrive.

The skin of the ear canal can then become inflamed, swollen and considerably painful.

The cure of a fungus infection can sometimes demand painstaking care. Cleansing of the ear must be done under direct vision in order to avoid hurting the tender ear tissue.

The cleansing must be done as rapidly as the fungus grows.

There now are many new drugs, fungicides, that kill the fungus and help prevent their growth.

It is important that any underlying disease of the ear be carefully treated to avoid the recurrence of a fungus infection. A fungus infection of the skin a distant part, such as the one that causes athlete's foot, may even be transported to the outer ear.

Fungus infections sometimes are discouraging but can be cured by persistent treatment.

Start spring exercise slowly to avoid injury to the muscles that have been in "winter storage."

Glandular Optimist

As a glandular optimist I seldom succumb to an "I give up" mood. But if it weren't for that inborn Micawber or Pollyanna streak in me, the last few weeks would have been enough to convince me that life on this planet is just about as meaningful as a voyage in a revolving door.

There is, for example, this matter of the Far Eastern "experts" who have been so skillfully paraded by Senator Fulbright before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. Back in the late Nineteen Forties and early Nineteen Fifties, such "little magazines" as Isaac Don Levine's Plain Talk and Sol Levitas's New Leader performed a yeoman service in exposing the many China "experts" who trafficked in and out of the Institute of Pacific Relations.

These "experts" had one theme; they kept telling the immensely gullible American public that Mao Tse-tung, Chou En-lai and their pals would make a much better job of running China than the "corrupt" gang of Chiang Kai-shek.

Manfully, General Albert Wedemeyer, who had been in charge of U.S. forces in the China theatre at the end of World War II, tried to warn Washington that the Institute of Pacific Relations had been infiltrated by soft heads who believed, or at least said they believed, that Mao Tse-tung was merely a Thomas Jefferson in a coolie jacket. Some people in the State Department finally caught the Wedemeyer — Don Levine pitch — and a particularly knowledgeable State Department man provided me with material for a Life magazine article called "Memo to Robert Lovett." Mr. Lovett was then about to take an important job with the State Department, and the idea was to show him the extent of the Mao "agrarian reformer" infiltration of official Washington. Years later Mr. Lovett thanked me for giving him some worth-while warning of what was going on. But the thanks should really have gone to the so-called "American underground" in the State Department itself.

Well, time passed, and the disclosure that Mao Tse-tung was something far more sinister than a Jeffersonian agrarian reformer did more than any number of magazine articles to discredit such Far Eastern "experts" as John Stewart Service, Owen Lattimore, John K. Fairbank, Edgar Snow, and Oliver Edmund Clubb. It wasn't any Joe McCarthy terrorist "conspiracy" that silenced the China "experts," it was the Great Flop Backward in Red China itself.

But now, thanks to the help of Senator Fulbright, who has given them renewed respectability, the "experts" have been emerging to make their speeches and broadcasts and to write their articles. They are sparking the suddenly renewed drive to break down resistance to admitting Red China to the UN. The propaganda is subtle; the idea is that Red China must be "contained," but not "isolated."

But this reckons without Mao Tse-tung's own intransigence; his price for entering the UN would almost certainly be the liquidation of the U. S. commitment to the territorial integrity of the island of Taiwan, or Formosa. And surely, despite the foolishness of Senator Fulbright, we would boggle at such a betrayal of good friends.

If it weren't for my previously mentioned glandular optimism, the sudden reappearance of the Lattimores and the Oliver Edmund Clubbs would have me down with a despondent "this is where I came in" feeling. But just as the Great Flop Backward discredited the China "experts" before, the unwillingness of the Red Chinese to give up their stubborn addiction to the Trotskyist "permanent revolution" theory will almost certainly discredit them again.

What Senator Fulbright can't understand is that Communism will not be changed by trying to be nice to it from points outside its own orbit. If it is gogmi to become soft and lost its doctrinal rigidity, it will only be because of the growth of irresolution inside its own territorial boundaries. Let it starve its people a little longer, let its older generations bore the Communist young with "ideology" for a few more years, let the non-Communist West keep exerting pressure on it by refusing to succumb to diplomatic blackmail, and the day may come when true peaceful co-existence will be possible. But this day is not yet.

If Mao Tse-tung can't make a peaceful deal with a Soviet Moscow that is supporting the common Red cause in Vietnam, how does Senator Fulbright expect him to react benignly to overtures from the hated Yankees? Give me a convincing answer to that, and I'll shut up.

How's That Again?

Recently a British maritime affairs magazine carried a naval story that must have set many a Jack Tar wondering if the swing away from aircraft carriers isn't a good thing after all.

Reprinted was a memo of instruction for the seaborne stowage of ballistic missiles.

"It is necessary for technical reasons that these warheads be stowed upside down, that is with the top at the bottom and the bottom at the top. In order that there may be no doubt as to which is the bottom and which is the top, for storage purposes, it will be seen that the bottom of each casing has been labeled 'Top!'"

LAFF-A-DAY

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

HERE ARE a couple of stories told on a "cowboy" TV program within the past fortnight, and though they date all the way back to either Joe Miller or his father, they still were good for non-sound-track laughs:

1. Poker game in a routine, tootin' Wild West saloon. Seven participants, including the sheriff. One shifty-eyed player—the sole winner at the table—has only one eye. Sheriff lays his pearl-handled six-shooter on the table, deals, and announces, "Efn I catch any so and so cheating on this hand, I'll shoot his other eye out!"

2. Wondered the parson, "Whatever can have become of Three-Finger Mulvaney?" Spoke up a bar fly, "I got an idea, Parson. He came to town last Saturday, got lickered up, stuck his head out of a second-story window, and hollered 'Fire.' I reckon a couple of the boys took him at his word."

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

What is meant of traumatic neurosis?

Mrs. W. R. C., Ohio

Dear Mrs. C.: A trauma means an injury. An injury can cause slight damage like a bruise or may be severe and produce a fracture of a bone. The incapacitation of the body, therefore, depends on the severity of the injury or the trauma.

Just as there can be physical injuries, there can also be emotional injuries. These, too, vary in severity and in their effect on the sensitive psyche, or emotions.

A child may be deeply distressed because her favorite doll has been broken or lost. This is a trauma. When a child has been unprepared for an operation like the removal of her tonsils, this, too, is obviously a trauma of greater severity.

A severe emotional experience that affects our capacity to function in our home, in our job and in our community can produce a traumatic neurosis. When such an experience produces apprehensions, fears and anxieties that affect the total enjoyment of life, they have incapacitated us to the same degree as a severe fracture.

Emotional hurts or trauma need the same, or even more, help for total recovery. It is, therefore, no shame to seek such help for the injured or traumatized emotions.

What is a fungus infection of the ear? What causes it and how can it be cured?

Mrs. C. T. H., Georgia

Dear Mrs. H.: Infections can be caused by a germ, a fungus, a mold or a yeast. There are thousands of fungi, most of which do not cause any disease in man. They grow best in warm, moist areas.

The skin of the outer ear canal seems to be an ideal location for the growth of some kinds of fungus. When there is a chronic ear discharge from infection, accumulated wax, or water from swimming, the fungus may set up housekeeping and thrive.

The skin of the ear canal may then become inflamed, swollen and considerably painful. The cure of a fungus infection can sometimes demand painstaking care. Cleansing of the ear must be done under direct vision in order to avoid hurting the tender ear tissue. The cleansing must be done as rapidly as the fungus grows.

There now are many new drugs, fungicides, that kill the fungus and help prevent their growth. It is important that any underlying disease of the ear be carefully treated to avoid the recurrence of a fungus infection. A fungus infection of the skin a distant part, such as the one that causes athlete's foot, may even be transported to the outer ear.

Fungus infections sometimes are discouraging but can be cured by persistent treatment. Start spring exercise slowly to avoid injury to the muscles that have been in "winter storage."

Glandular Optimist

By John Chamberlain

As a glandular optimist I seldom succumb to an "I give up" mood. But if it weren't for that inborn Micaewber or Pollyanna streak in me, the last few weeks would have been enough to convince me that life on this planet is just about as meaningful as a voyage in a revolving door.

There is, for example, this matter of the Far Eastern "experts" who have been so skillfully paraded by Senator Fulbright before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. Back in the late Nineteen Forties and early Nineteen Fifties, such "little magazines" as Isaac Don Levine's Plain Talk and Sol Levitas's New Leader performed a yeoman service in exposing the many China "experts" who trafficked in and out of the Institute of Pacific Relations. These "experts" had one theme; they kept telling the immensely glib American public that Mao Tse-tung, Chou En-lai and their pals would make a much better job of running China than the "corrupt" gang of Chiang Kai-shek.

Manfully, General Albert Wedemeyer, who had been in charge of U.S. forces in the China theatre at the end of World War II, tried to warn Washington that the Institute of Pacific Relations had been infiltrated by soft heads who believed, or at least said they believed, that Mao Tse-tung was merely a Thomas Jefferson in a coolie jacket. Some people in the State Department finally caught the Wedemeyer - Don Levine pitch — and a particularly knowledgeable State Department man provided me with material for a Life magazine article called "Memo to Robert Lovett." Mr. Lovett was then about to take an important job with the State Department, and the idea was to show him the extent of the Mao "agrarian reformer" infiltration of official Washington. Years later Mr. Lovett thanked me for giving him some worth-while warning of what was going on. But the thanks should really have gone to the so-called "American underground" in the State Department itself.

Well, time passed, and the disclosure that Mao Tse-tung was something far more sinister than a Jeffersonian agrarian reformer did more than any number of magazine articles to discredit such Far Eastern "experts" as John Stewart Service, Owen Lattimore, John K. Fairbank, Edgar Snow, and Oliver Edmund Clubb. It wasn't any Joe McCarthy terrorist "conspiracy" that silenced the China "experts"; it was the Great Flop Backward in Red China itself.

But now, thanks to the help of Senator Fulbright, who has given them renewed respectability, the "experts" have been emerging to make their speeches and broadcasts and to write their articles. They are sparking the suddenly renewed drive to break down resistance to admitting Red China to the UN, the propaganda is subtle; the idea is that Red China must be "contained," but not "isolated." But this reckons without Mao Tse-tung's own intransigence; his price for entering the UN would almost certainly be the liquidation of the U. S. commitment to the territorial integrity of the island of Taiwan, or Formosa. And surely, despite the foolishness of Senator Fulbright, we would boggle at such a betrayal of good friends.

If it weren't for my previously mentioned glandular optimism, the sudden reappearance of the Lattimores and the Oliver Edmund Clubbs would have me down with a despondent "this is where I came in" feeling. But just as the Great Flop Backward discredited the China "exnist young with "ideology" for a few more years, let the non-Communist West keep exerting pressure on it by refusing to succumb to diplomatic blackmail, and the day may come when true peaceful co-existence will be possible. But this day is not yet.

If Mao Tse-tung can't make a peaceful deal with a Soviet Moscow that is supporting the common Red cause in Vietnam, how does Senator Fulbright expect him to react benignly to overtures from the hated Yankees? Give me a convincing answer to that, and I'll shut up.

King Wonders Which Wife To Be Nation's First Lady

LOBAMBA, Swaziland (AP) — This British protectorate adjoining South Africa is getting its independence in 1969, and its tribal monarch, King Sobhuza, faces a king-size problem.

Which of his uncountable tribal wives gets the title of Swaziland's First Lady?

Down at the mud-butt royal kraal — village — of Lobamba a lot of wifely bickering is going on. Some of the king's elder spouses maintain that tribal seniority gives them first choice for the coveted title. But few of the wives can agree on who is the senior.

King Sobhuza, like most African chiefs, has been practicing the age-old tribal custom of polygamy for nearly 40 years. That adds up to a lot of wives.

And, according to tribal law, the senior wife doesn't necessarily have to be the oldest.

During the years of traditional tribal rule it hasn't seemed to matter much which wife was singled out for priority rating. But as Swaziland moves into independence, with social functions coming up that will require the presence of a woman at the king's side, choice of a First Lady assumes importance.

In Swazi tribal life polygamy is a status symbol. The more wives a Swazi can boast the higher his social standing.

Sobhuza, at 67, ranks about tops on the political and social ladder. Swaziland's 270,000 tribespeople refer to him as the "Ngwenyama" — Lion.

"He has scores of wives and hundreds of children," ventured one royal courtier. "The king certainly doesn't remember many of their names — who would with a family of that size?"

The final choice of First Lady will probably be left to the elderly queen mother and the country's top political advisers.

490-Passenger Jetliners Ordered By Pan Am Line

NEW YORK (AP) — Pan American World Airways has ordered 25 new 490-passenger subsonic jet airliners at a cost of $525 million from the Boeing Co.

The order was one of the largest ever placed for commercial aircraft.

The new type plane will be known as the Boeing 747. Its seating capacity will be 2½ times that of existing aircraft.

A Pan Am spokesman said use of the huge planes is expected to cut air fares drastically.

The order included 23 passenger planes and 2 all-cargo craft.

Deliveries of the subsonic craft will begin in September 1969. It is not to be confused with a supersonic — or faster than sound — aircraft on which Boeing and Lockheed aircraft have submitted plans to the government.

ENERGETIC — Lester Stamm must get his energy from milk. He is 75, and has been a milkman for 44 years in Beloit, Wis. He calculates he must have jumped on and off his truck 1,900,000 times and has kept 1,000 cows employed steadily.

New OSU Journalism Chief Eyed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A major faction of Ohio State University's journalism faculty and a prominent alumnus kept fighting today, right down to the wire perhaps, what they feared would be appointment of a journalism school director not to their taste.

The board of trustees was meeting today amid rumors it would finally name a permanent director to replace the late George Kienzle, dead nearly a year.

Reports had it that President Novice G. Fawcett would recommend Dr. William Hall, director of the University of Nebraska's School of Journalism.

The man much of the OSU journalism faculty insists should get the post is Robert Barton, acting director for months. They feel Barton would put more of the professional emphasis to the school's mission, rather than academic as reputedly favored by Fawcett and his administration.

Nine faculty members earlier this week protested by letter to Dean J. Osborn Fuller of the Arts and Sciences College the explain to his mother that we'd rather be alone? We are both so afraid of hurting her feelings that we would almost rather have her make the trip.

But if you can think of a nice way to tell her to stay home,
I would certainly appreciate it.

DEAR IRISH: You cannot tell your mother-in-law to stay home. She knows how much time her son will have off the base, and also that you will want time alone together. If she goes anyway, she'll have to be satisfied with whatever time she has with her son.

DEAR ABBY: My mother is the moodiest person on earth.
She can wake up feeling fine, and then if anyone does one thing wrong, she's mad for the day. I am 16 years old, and I am sick and tired of her acme some advice on how to enjoy living at home with her?

(Thank you.)

DENISE

DEAR DENISE: Yes. Just for one day, refrain from doing any of the things you know will irritate her. And try to do all the things you know will please her. Such as, cleaning your room, doing your homework early, limiting your telephone conversations, keeping the radio and TV low, desisting from complaints about what you do not have, or cannot do, remaining silent when you'd like to talk back or argue, and finally keeping the peace with your brothers and sisters. You will then find that living with your mother is so much more enjoyable, you'll think you're in the wrong
house. (You're welcome.)

the stomach for it? Here is why.
They let the dogs and cats have the run of the place. The cats are into everything and up on everything. They jump into the cupboards, onto the drain-boards, and into the refrigerator if the door is open. They sleep on the kitchen table. They are also fed from the same dishes the people eat from.
These dishes are usually all over the kitchen floor and out in the yard, and have to be collected and washed before there are enough to set the table.
Pots and pans the same way.
They even let the cats clean them up first so they will be easier to wash. These folks are kindhearted and all, but I just can't stand to take a drink of water in their house. Do you blame me?

WEAK STOMACH

DEAR WEAK: No. Politely decline all refreshments with a courteous, "No, thank you, I don't care for anything just now," which would be putting it delicately.

WCS Circle Meet Led By Mrs. Cox

Mrs. William Cox conducted the meeting of Circle No. 5, WCS of First Methodist Church, held Wednesday in the church social room. There were 17 members present.

Mrs. Gladys Elsea led the devotionals and read Scripture. The thought for the day was, "Truly This Is the Son of God." She read a poem and an article and closed with prayer.

Mrs. Cox conducted the program and told of the religious life in the armed forces and the dedication of the chaplains who serve the service personnel. She concluded by saying, "God is the one thing you need and can take with you all over the world."

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Guy Heffner, Mrs. Lucy Roush, Mrs. H. D. Stansbury and Mrs. Tom Chapman.

ENGAGING COUPLE — Announcing their engagement (above) in Hollywood, Italian movie star Letitia Roman and American producer Aaron Spelling say they will be married this summer. Miss Roman recently starred in the title role of "Fanny Hill." Spelling, formerly married to actress Carolyn Jones, has produced such successful television series as "Burke's Law," "Dick Powell Show" and "Zane Grey Theatre."

Mrs. Jenne Entertains WSCS Members

Mrs. Foster Jenne was hostess when members of the Mt. Pleasant Methodist Church Woman's Society of Christian Service met in her home. Mrs. John Moss Sr. assisted.

Nominating committee members were named as follows: Mrs. John Moss Sr., Mrs. Marion Mowery and Mrs. Austin Greene.

Mrs. Robert Baird and Mrs. Fred Baird gave the devotions. Mrs. Dorsey Bumgarner presided during the business session. Thank you notes were read from Mr. and Mrs. Richard D. Wilson and Mrs. Clyde Karshner.

Members made plans for a Fish Fry at the church 4:30 p. m. June 25.

Mrs. Robert Baird was in charge of the program. A playlet was given by Mrs. Robert Baird, Mrs. Forrest Hopkins, and Mrs. Ray Rittinger. Group singing was conducted.

An auction was held. Mrs. Fred Baird supplied items which were purchased by Mrs. Paul Counts, Mrs. Clark Smith and Mrs. Cadiz Carmean.

Refreshments were served to 11 members and the following guests: Miss Mildred Turner, Mrs. Wheeler Rittinger, Mrs. Roy Sherman, Mrs. Carmean and Mrs. Smith.

Mrs. Frank Mace and Mrs. Roy Rittinger will be hostesses for the next meeting.

Visitors Honored With Dinner Party

Mrs. Ethel Brintlinger entertained Sunday evening with a dinner at her home honoring her son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Brintlinger and daughters, Mary Anna and Heidi of Negaunee, Mich., who are visiting this week.

Others present were Mr. and Mrs. George H. Kaiser and daughter, Karen, Orient; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kaiser and daughter, Kim, Mr. and Mrs. John Kaiser and children, Lisa, Julie and Steven, all of Commercial Point, Mr. and Mrs. George R. Kaiser and children, Jerri and Jeffrey, Williamsport.

AAUW Study Group Slates Meet Today

The American Association of University Women World Problems Study Group will meet 8 p. m. today in the home of Mrs. Hewitt Harmount, Route 1.

Miss Nell Oesterle will be guest speaker. She will compare governments of the United States and Russia and show slides of her trip to Russia.

WSWS Circle Members Plan Convention

Plans for the coming Ohio Southeast WSWS Convention to be held April 27-28 at the First EUB Church, E. Main St., was the main topic of discussion when Circle No. 2 met in the home of Mrs. Mack Wise, 510 Ridgewood Drive.

Approximately 400 women are expected to participate in the two day session. Mary Elizabeth Radcliffe, a member of the local church, is now serving her second consecutive term as branch president.

There were 16 members and two visitors, Mrs. Pat Hartsock and Mrs. Jessie Harsock, present.

Ruby Wise, secretary of christian social relations, reported that a letter with 225 signatures had been sent to Senator Everett Dirksen opposing the proposed law to remove prayer from the schools of the nation.

Mae Hawkes, assistant leader of Circle 2, reported that the Mother and Daughter Tea will be held May 12.

Viola Brannon led the program with the theme, "Mission — Christian Citizenship."

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Maggie Mavis.

Pickaway County GC Plans Guest Night

Guest Night will be observed when members of the Pickaway County Garden Club meet 6:30 p. m. Tuesday in Atwater School for a carry-in dinner.

Don Merry of Wellston will be guest speaker. His topic will be "Mist Propagation."

Those planning to attend are asked to bring their own table service. Coffee will be provided. Members of the hostess committee are: Miss Ann Pierce, chairman; Mrs. Joe Christy, Mrs. W. E. Defenbaugh, Mrs. Turney Pontius, Mrs. James Scott, Mrs. James Stallings, Mrs. Ed Fetherolf, Mrs. Burl Wiggins and Miss Miriam Weaver.

For a quick hors d'oeuvre, marinate drained canned shrimp and drained canned mushrooms (whole or sliced) in a flavorsome oil-and-vinegar dressing. Serve on salad greens with French bread.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Do Not Disturb! Mothers Included

DEAR ABBY: After one year of marriage, my husband was drafted into the United States Army. He has been in basic training camp for four weeks. Next week-end I plan to fly 1,200 miles to visit him. He will get a pass for the week-end days, but he'll have to spend the nights on the base. My mother-in-law wants to go with me. This would make it very awkward since my husband and I would probably be spending quite a large part of the day in our hotel room. How can we explain to his mother that we'd rather be alone? New OSU Journalism Chief Eyed COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A major faction of Ohio State University's journalism faculty and a prominent alumnus kept fighting today, right down to the wire perhaps, what they feared would be appointment of a journalism school director not to their taste.

The board of trustees was meeting today amid rumors it would finally name a permanent director to replace the late George Kienzie, dead nearly a year.

Reports had it that President Novice G. Fawcett would recommend Dr. William Hall, director of the University of Nebraska's School of Journalism.

The man much of the OSU journalism faculty insists should get the post is Robert Barton, acting director for months. They feel Barton would put more of the professional emphasis to the school's mission, rather than academic as reputedly favored by Fawcett and his administration.

Nine faculty members earlier this week protested by letter to Dean J. Osborn Fuller of the Arts and Sciences College the way he and the administration were going about picking a director.

Neil Armstrong Airport Pledged

WAPAKONETA, Ohio (AP)—Training "that I can ill afford to miss" resumed today for astronaut Neil Armstrong who had wanted more time here to say hello "to the home folks."

This northwest Ohio community of 7000 put on its biggest show ever Wednesday—a whirlwind homecoming for Armstrong, 35, America's only civilian astronaut who brushed with death last month on the abortive flight of Gemini 8.

"You are my people," he told about 1,500 at a reception in the high school, "and I am proud of you."

But time was short for Armstrong, who had to leave for Houston, Tex., Wednesday night, where he will undergo further training. He is backup pilot for Gemini 11 set for this fall.

The reception ended a busy program of honors including a parade through downtown. He waved to the crowd—estimated by police at 12,000 to 17,000—and singled out friends along the way for recognition.

Armstrong presented framed color photos from his space flight to the city and the high school where he was graduated in 1947.

Gov. James A. Rhodes, also the recipient of photos, took time to announce plans for the state to join with Auglaize County to build a $200,000 airport to be named for the astronaut. Rhodes said Aviation Director Norman Crabtree would come here next week to work out details.

The day started with reunions with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen K. Armstrong, and other relatives at the airport in nearby Lima. It ended with a private gathering with relatives at his parents' home.

Armstrong was friendly and smiling during most of the ceremonies. But at the high school reception, he turned solemn briefly, saying, "I hope that those of you who came from outside Wapakoneta and Auglaize County will forgive me for just a moment while I say hello just to the home folks."

The "home folks" included many of his classmates from his graduating class.

Earlier, he called the homecoming "magnificent and far more than I deserve. I am sure."

14-State Dem Rally Slated

Columbus To Host Strategy Parley

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Democratic leaders from 14 states converged on Columbus today for the opening of their annual midwest conference on party strategy in this congressional election year.

Ohio Democratic Chairman William L. Coleman, host for the three-day sessions, said special attention would focus on efforts to reelect nearly 30 Democratic congressmen who defeated Republicans in conference states two years ago.

Highlight of the workshop sessions on campaign issues will be a banquet address Friday night by U. S. Ambassador-at-Large W. Averell Harriman.

Conference states in addition to Ohio are Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Michigan, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Missouri, Nebraska, Oklahoma, West Virginia and North and South Dakota.

Activities get under way tonight at an "ice breaker" reception with Columbus Mayor and Mrs. M. E. Sensenbrenner as hosts along with Mr. and Mrs. Coleman; Mrs. Helen Guss of Van Wert, Ohio Democratic National Committee member; Albert S. Porter of Cleveland, Ohio National Committee member, and Warren H. Pate of the Ohio AFL-CIO.

The reception will compete for attention of newsmen with an earlier cocktail party sponsored by Republican State Chairman John S. Andrews in advance of the annual Gridiron Show staged by the Press Club of Ohio.

Coleman said advance ticket sales for the $50-a-plate banquet indicated that 600 would attend. Proceeds of the fund-raising "gala" will go to Ohio as the host state, according to custom. He estimated that headquarters would net about $15,000 after returning at least $10 a ticket to party headquarters in counties where they were sold. Earlier estimates ran double the net estimate.

The conference is the first for Ohio since 1957 when Toledo was the host city.

The forest "edge" and openings created by timber harvesting offer excellent browse for animals such as deer.

Model's Legs, Not Face Are Her Fortune Nowadays

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—A model's face isn't her fortune anymore. Her legs are.

If these are not long, strong, straight and well-shaped with nice knees, they can be her misfortune.

With hemlines skyrocketing, that's a sorrowful fact that has driven many a bony beauty into reluctant retirement, according to several prominent modeling agencies here.

Many are the same gaunt, hollow-eyed, flat-chested glamor girls with protruding shoulder blades and hip bones who only yesterday, as they slouched S-shaped in bosomless, waisted fashion covering their knobby knees, were the envy of fleshier sisters.

"If their legs were bad, we used to be able to crop the fashion pictures," sadly reminisced Muriel Durand, a publicist.

"Now the leggy look is a part of the whole style effect. If she doesn't have good legs, we just can't use the model."

That is the story Eileen Ford, director of one of New York's largest agencies, hears from clients regularly. At Manequin, a spokesman, Myra Sacks, lamented that if hemlines continue their upward climb some of the girls might have to resort to plastic surgery to stay in the modeling business.

"A model with an imperfect face at least could hide the fact by the way she wore her hair or camouflage it with makeup," she said. "But when you have bad legs there is nothing you can do."

A girl who agrees thoroughly is statuesque Erica Steck, a 24-year-old German who says she is doing "a lot of leg work."

"No matter what the beauty expert say, either you have good legs or you don't. Exercises won't help. You have to be born well-formed."

The short-skirt season also seem to discriminate against nationalities. In greatest demand at the Ford modeling agency, for example, are the German and Scandinavian lasses.

"These girls are lucky enough to be leggie," says Mrs. Ford.

Wapak Hails Its Space Hero

Neil Armstrong Airport Pledged

WAPAKONETA, Ohio (AP)—Training "that I can ill afford to miss" resumed today for astronaut Neil Armstrong who had wanted more time here to say hello "to the home folks."

This northwest Ohio community of 7000 put on its biggest show ever Wednesday—a whirlwind homecoming for Armstrong 35, America's only civilian astronaut who brushed with death last month on the abortive flight of Gemini 8.

"You are my people," he told about 1,500 at a reception in the high school, "and I am proud of you."

But time was short for Armstrong, who had to leave for Houston, Tex., Wednesday night, where he will undergo further training. He is backup pilot for Gemini 11 set for this fall.

The reception ended a busy program of honors including a parade through downtown. He waved to the crowd—estimated by police at 12,000 to 17,000—and singled out friends along the way for recognition.

Armstrong presented framed color photos from his space flight to the city and the high school where he was graduated in 1947.

Gov. James A. Rhodes, also the recipient of photos, took time to announce plans for the state to join with Auglaize County to build a $200,000 airport to be named for the astronaut. Rhodes said Aviation Director Norman Crautree would come here next week to work out details.

The day started with reunions with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen K. Armstrong, and other relatives at the airport in nearby Lima. It ended with a private gathering with relatives at his parents' home.

Armstrong was friendly and smiling during most of the ceremonies. But at the high school reception, he turned solemn briefly, saying, "I hope that those of you who came from outside Wapakoneta and Auglaize County will forgive me for just a moment while I say hello just to the home folks."

The "home folks" included many of his classmates from his graduating class.

Earlier, he called the homecoming "magnificent and far more than I deserve. I am sure."

14-State Dem Rally Slated

Columbus To Host Strategy Parley

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Democratic leaders from 14 states converged on Columbus today for the opening of their annual midwest conference on party strategy in this congressional election year.

Ohio Democratic Chairman William L. Coleman, host for the three-day sessions, said special attention would focus on efforts to reelect nearly 30 Democratic congressmen who defeated Republicans in conference states two years ago.

Highlight of the workshop sessions on campaign issues will be a banquet address Friday night by U. S. Ambassador-at-Large W. Averell Harriman.

Conference states in addition to Ohio are Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Michigan, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Missouri, Nebraska, Oklahoma, West Virginia and North and South Dakota.

Activities get under way tonight at an "ice breaker" reception with Columbus Mayor and Mrs. M. E. Sensesbrenner as hosts along with Mr. and Mrs. Coleman; Mrs. Helen Gunsett of Van Wert, Ohio Democratic National Committee member; Albert S. Porter of Cleveland, Ohio National Committeeman, and Warren H. Pate of the Ohio AFL-CIO.

The reception will compete for attention of newsmen with an earlier cocktail party sponsored by Republican State Chairman John S. Andrews in advance of the annual Gridiron Show staged by the Press Club of Ohio.

Coleman said advance ticket sales for the $50-a-plate banquet indicated that 600 would attend. Proceeds of the fund-raising "gala" will go to Ohio as the host state, according to custom. He estimated state headquarters would net about $15,000 after returning at least $10 a ticket to party headquarters in counties where they were sold. Earlier estimates ran double the net estimate.

The conference is the first for Ohio since 1957 when Toledo was the host city.

Model's Legs, Not Face Are Her Fortune Nowadays

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—A model's face isn't her fortune anymore. Her legs are.

If these are not long, strong, straight and well-shaped with nice knees, they can be her misfortune.

With hemlines skyrocketing, that's a sorrowful fact that has driven many a bony beauty into reluctant retirement, according to several prominent modeling agencies here.

Many are the same gaunt, hollow-eyed, flat-chested glamor girls with protruding shoulder blades and hip bones who only yesterday, as they slouched S-shaped in bosomless, waistless fashion covering their knobby knee, were the envy of fleshier sisters.

"If their legs were bad, we used to be able to crop the fashion pictures," sadly reminisced Muriel Durand, a publicist.

"Now the leggy look is a part of the whole style effect. If she doesn't have good legs, we just can't use the model."

That is the story Eileen Ford, director of one of New York's largest agencies, hears from clients regularly. At Manequin, a spokesman, Myra Sacks, lamented that if hemlines continue their upward climb some of the girls might have to resort to plastic surgery to stay in the modeling business.

"A model with an imperfect face at least could hide the fact by the way she wore her hair or camouflage it with makeup," she said. "But when you have bad legs there is nothing you can do."

A girl who agrees thoroughly is statuesque Erica Steck, a 24-year-old German who says she is doing "a lot of leg work."

"No matter what the beauty expert say, either you have good legs or you don't. Exercises won't help. You have to be born well-formed."

The short-skirt season also seem to dicriminate against nationalities. In greatest demand at the Ford modeling agency, for example, are the German and Scandinavian lasses.

"These girls are lucky enough to be leggie," says Mrs. Ford.

And that said accounts will be for hearing and settlement before this Probate Court on Monday, May 16, 1966, at 9 o'clock A. M. Exceptions to said accounts, if any, must be filed herein on or before May 10th, 1966.

New Ohio Lady Sheriff Plans To Pack No Pistols

GREENVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Annie Oakley's home county has a lady sheriff but she doesn't plan to tote shootin' irons.

The new sheriff of Darke County, a grandma and former shoe clerk, figures on leaving to her menfolk subordinates the chore of bearing arms in patrolling the county's 677 square miles and protecting its 47,000 citizens.

She is Mrs. Margaret Howard, born and raised here, and appointed interim successor to her late husband, Sheriff Robert Howard.

The Democratic Central Committee picked her on its first ballot this week to serve until a November election can fill the final two years of her husband's unexpired term.

Mrs. Howard's husband died, at 50, on March 30, and the widow admittedly is taking over his duties while still in something of a state of shock. But she said she felt obligated to carry on her husband's work the way she feels he would have wanted it done, and that's why she announced as a candidate for the appointment.

The new Sheriff Howard was jail matron since her husband took office in January 1965, after 10 years as a saleslady in a Greenville shoe store. She has a married daughter, and three grandchildren, "fortunately, right here in Greenville."

As for any influence the fabled "Little Sure Shot," Annie Oakley, might have had on Mrs. Howard's career, forget it.

Weekly Food Review

wives can start bringing home the bacon again.

Meat prices are leveling off at many of the nation's food stores.

Bacon climbed to $1.19 a pound in some areas in January, but now has dropped 10 to 30 per cent.

Hams are down 2 to 4 cents a pound this week in San Francisco, and beef ribs are down 3 to 4 cents in Southern California.

Choice grade steer beef chucks, trimmed loins and cured hams are headed lower in the Pacific Northwest.

A major New York area supermarket chain has dropped fryer prices 16 cents a pound to the lowest levels since December.

Wholesale food prices, which were 15 per cent higher than a year ago during the winter, now are running 10.3 per cent higher.

Fresh strawberries are beginning to move to market, and warm weather has pushed the asparagus crop along rapidly in California.

Artichokes, green beans, cabbage, corn and lettuce also are plentiful in most areas.

In canned foods, stocks of peas, okra, mixed vegetables, succotash, peas and carrots, snap beans, chili sauce, apples, applesauce, apricots, grapefruit segments, grapefruit juice, orange juice and blended juices are greater than last year.

New Ohio Lady Sheriff Plans To Pack No Pistols

GREENVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Annie Oakley's home county has a lady sheriff but she doesn't plan to tote shootin' irons.

The new sheriff of Darke County, a grandma and former shoe clerk, figures on leaving to her menfolk subordinates the chore of bearing arms in patrolling the county's 677 square miles and protecting its 47,000 citizens.

She is Mrs. Margaret Howard, born and raised here, and appointed interim successor to her late husband, Sheriff Robert Howard.

The Democratic Central Committee picked her on its first ballot this week to serve until a November election can fill the final two years of her husband's unexpired term.

Mrs. Howard's husband died, at 50, on March 30, and the widow admittedly is taking over his duties while still in something of a state of shock. But she said she felt obligated to carry on her husband's work the way she feels he would have wanted it done, and that's why she announced as a candidate for the appointment.

The new Sheriff Howard was jail matron since her husband took office in January 1965, after 10 years as a saleslady in a Greenville shoe store. She has a married daughter, and three grandchildren, "fortunately, right here in Greenville."

As for any influence the famed "Little Sure Shot," Annie Oakley, might have had on Mrs. Howard's career, forget it.

More Negroes Being Used on Dixie Juries

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A trend apparently has begun to place more Negroes on juries in the South under the pressure of appellate court rulings and a move for congressional action dealing with jury selection.

There are, in fact, systematic efforts in some areas to include Negroes on juries, particularly those trying racial cases.

Nowhere has the change been more dramatically evidenced than in the little town of Ellaville, Ga. — population 900-1,000 — which recently had its first jury case in five years and its first murder trial in 20 years — and the first Negro jurors in anyone's memory.

Two Negro brothers, 15 and 19, were charged with the murder of a white policeman last November. After lawyers went through the jury panel, a jury of 11 Negroes and one white man had been picked. The trial of the younger brother resulted in a six-year sentence for voluntary manslaughter, and the older brother got the same sentence when he pleaded guilty.

How did a predominantly Negro jury turn up in Schley County?

Sheriff W. M. Ellis said: "You just have to abide by the law." He said the jury list was taken from the tax rolls and that was it. But the list was revised two weeks before the trial.

The trend is noticeable in Georgia, South Carolina, Arkansas, Mississippi and Virginia, an Associated Press survey shows. The Department of Justice has moved into the courts to force the inclusion of Negroes on juries in some Alabama counties. Other states report no significant change in the pattern of jury composition—which includes a few Negroes.

Among the factors enumerated by veteran Southern lawyers viewing the changes:

Constant attacks on exclusion of Negroes.

Related racial changes flowing partly from new laws and activities of civil rights groups, the changed attitude of the federal, and in many instances state, government; the impact upon and involvement of business and industrial growth.

Increasing political power of Negroes.

Lessening opposition to liberal views.

Rice-Like Wheat Food Is Readied for Orientals

NEW YORK (AP) — A new process which developers say could make wheat palatable to Asia's rice-eating millions — and thus be a partial answer to famine — will be tested in a pilot project beginning this week in Hong Kong.

Wheat kernels are peeled by a lye process that makes them look like rice and cook like rice. The purpose of the project is to see whether Asians decide that it tastes like rice.

One of the biggest roadblocks to easing world famine, experts say, is that some people would rather die than change their eating habits.

Millions of the rice-eating people in India's Kerala State live on the verge of starvation rather than eat the wheat flowing into their country. Rioting mobs shouted at police: "Give us rice or shoot us!"

Breaking down "food prejudices" is necessary so that people can be fed the food that is available, says Melvin B. Myers, director of the material resources program of the Church World Service, sponsors of the pilot project.

Many millions of other Asians besides the Keralites are rice eaters and have been reluctant to use wheat, he said in an interview today.

"At one time the children of Hong Kong and Japan couldn't stand milk. They didn't know what it was," said Myers. "Now they drink it all the time."

"Suppose the United States was suddenly faced with a famine. Do you think the people would eat grubs or ants or drink blood before they would starve? Yet, these are the staples of some people."

On her recent visit to the United States Indian Prime Minister Indira Gandhi said: "People facing famine can still make it a principle not to eat wheat when they are used to eating rice."

The United States is sending 3.5 million tons of wheat to India to combat the drought-caused famine there.

To make wheat more acceptable to the rice-eating Keralites, the U.S. Department of Agriculture has come up with the new process to make a rice-like grain from regular wheat, called "World Wheat."

Schneider Among Honor Employees

C. Victor Schneider, 608 S. Scioto St., an active employee of the gas company, has been invited to attend the Columbia Gas System Southeastern Quarter Century Club banquet May 4 at the American Legion Hall, Lancaster.

Similar dinners for long-time gas company employees are held in Delroy, Oberlin, Mansfield, Columbus and Toledo. These banquets are for personnel of Columbia Gas of Ohio and the Ohio Fuel Gas Co.

One of every six gas company employee has been with Columbia 25 years or longer.

"The fine performance of these long time employees over the years has been a major contribution to the success and good reputation enjoyed by our companies. We are proud to honor them for their service and loyalty," Allan W. Lundstrum, chairman of the board and president of the companies, said in discussing plans for the banquets.

DISTINGUISHED BOTANIST — Floyd Bartley (right) is presented a plaque as part of the honors bestowed upon him by the Brooks Bird Club. Making the presentation is Harold Boecher of Hallsville, president of the club. The renowned field botanist also received an album of photographs, a book of letters written by friends and botanists from coast-to-coast and was guest of honor at a banquet conducted by the club in Wheeling W. Va. Bartley lives at Route 4.

Pickaway County Botanist Cited by Brooks Bird Club

Floyd Bartley, Route 4, was honored Mar. 5 when the Brooks Bird Club paid tribute to him as a distinguished naturalist and botanist at a banquet held in connection with the organization's spring meeting. The event took place at Oglebay Park, Wheeling, W. Va.

The honor came as a surprise to Bartley, long time member of the BBC, although the committee headed by Mrs. Harold Boecher of Hallsville had been at work garnering information and planning the event for several months.

Bartley was given the Executive Suite at the lodge during the weekend. As honor guest at the banquet he was presented with an album of photographs which included pictures of himself and BBC members on club forays, and a plaque and life membership in the BBC.

The third presentation was a book of letters written by friends and botanists from coast to coast.

THE BANQUET programs were four-page booklets, including a picture of Bartley standing near his old Ford so well known to Pickaway Countians. A biography written by Mrs. Paul Wachs of Circleville and used by the committee because of its conciseness and charm made up the bulk of the four pages. On the program cover was printed: "A Tribute to Floyd Bartley, Botanist."

Amazingly enough the popular Brooks Bird Club member was so busy nodding to friends that his table companions had to point out that the programs were in his honor.

Inside the cover the dedication read: "We honor Floyd Bartley for the many years he has shared his knowledge, leadership and enthusiasm with Brooks Bird Club as a field botanist. He has brought distinction to himself and to those who have worked with him in his perseverance to seek out the known and the unknown in the field of botany."

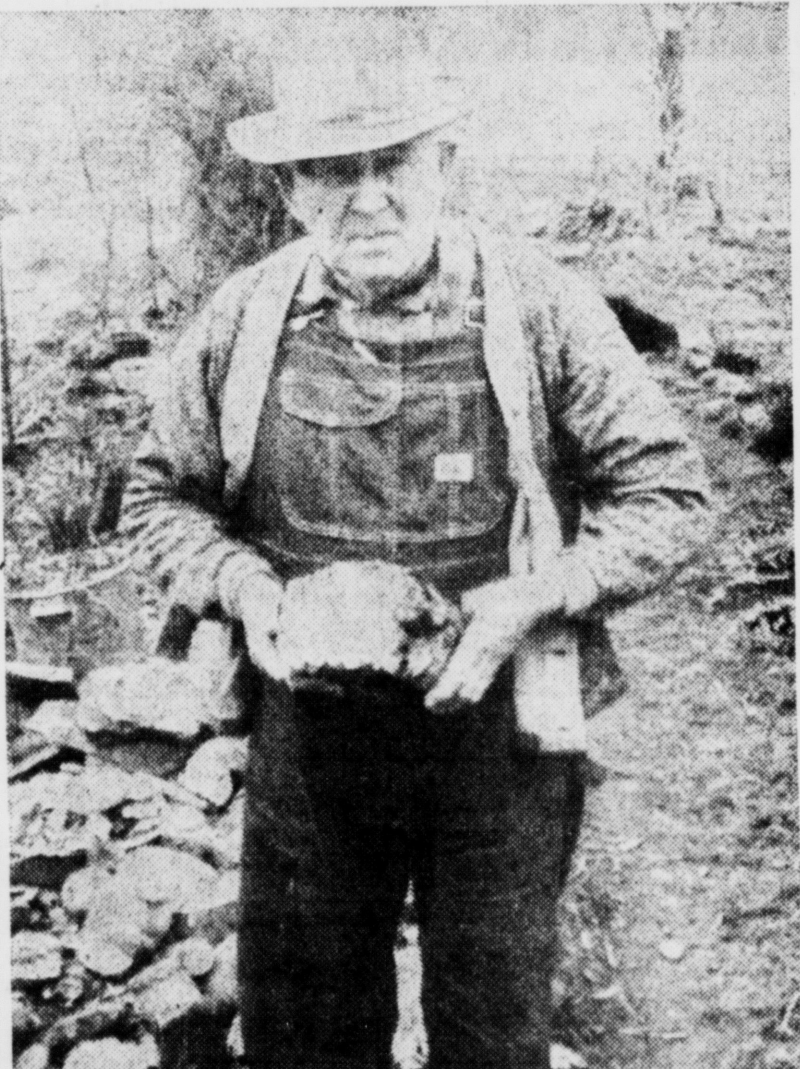

Bartley's sister, Mrs. Kirby Drake, was invited to the banquet to see her distinguished brother receive the plaudits of the BBC members. When Bartley saw his sister there he really knew that "something was up."

The book of letters, all from friends and admiring associates, is both a touching and proud tribute. Letters poured in from almost every state in the union, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, from Michigan to Florida. Letters came from old friends and new friends, from the young and not-so-young.

Most interesting perhaps were the letters from professional men, tops in the field of botany. And of interest were those from youngsters on their first lap of a botanical journey.

A PATTERN runs through this book of letters, widespread as the writers were. The pattern is one of keen respect for a fine field botanist. The letters also show gratitude from men of note who have needed and used Bartley's practical knowledge. Lastly the pattern shows affection and remembered pleasure of some of the funny adventures the writers shared with Bartley in his outdoor world.

A rather random sampling of the letter writers include the names of Arthur Cronquist, senior curator of New York Botanical Garden; Dr. Harold Robinson of Smithsonian Institute, Washington, D. C.; Earl Core, Dept. of Biology, University of W. Va.; William Gambill, assistant professor of Botany and Curator of Bartley Herbarium at Ohio University, Athens; Gustav W. Hall, assistant professor of Biology, College of William and Mary, Williamsburg, Va.; Eugene H. Stevens Jr., Department of Sciences, Palomar College, San Marco, Calif.; Warren H. Wagner Jr., Secretary, American Association for the Advancement of Science, an affiliate of the Department of Biology at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor.

Fossil Collecting Botanist — Floyd Bartley, Route 4, is a widely acclaimed field botanist. Many people do not realize that this 78-year-old naturalist has been collecting fossils, too. When they heard this at Ohio University they accepted his collection with surprise. He has hundreds of species of fossils including this piece of petrified wood he is holding. It is Lyptopodium which grew to tree-like size in pre-historic times. The picture was snapped on Bartley's birthday.

Ohio State was represented by Charles Dambach, director of Natural Resources; C. Wayne Elliott, associate professor of Botany and Plant Pathology; Dr. Burt, bryology expert; and Clara Weishaupt, herbarium curator.

Letters arrived from well known naturalists, including Charles Goslin, Lancaster; Ed Thomas, columnist for a Columbus newspaper; Mrs. Ellen Bliss, former Pickaway Countian now residing in Sarasota, Fla. (Miss Bliss had a wild flower and bird sanctuary near Orient which now belongs to her son); Mrs. Ruth McCammon, exponent of Ohio's Nature Conservancy.

Local friends wrote, too. There are letters from Mac Noggle, Emmitt Crist, Emmett Barnhart and Mrs. Donald Watt. Dick Wareham of Weston, Mass., wrote Bartley naming him as "Ohio's most famous 20th Century amateur botanist."

ONE OF the most amusing letters was from Johnny Vanmeter of near Piketon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Vanmeter. The Vanmeters are a nature loving family and when Johnny's older sisters and their parents went on forays with Bartley, Johnny was something of a pest. He was more interested in Floyd Bartley as a pal and camping partner than Floyd Bartley as a botanist who recognized on sight three fourths of Ohio's flora.

Johnny, now 25 and to be married come June, wrote: Floyd — As one of the "Van- W. Va.; William Gambill, assist-you for all I know about plant identification.

"Hmmm! Looks like grass—
"Hmmm! Smells like grass—
"Hmmm! Must be grass!

Seeds Removed After Baking

Gold Nugget winter squash, the All America Selections 1966 vegetable winner, may be prepared in a novel way.

Wash the squash, place the whole fruit on a pan or on aluminum foil. Bake at 300 degrees temperature for about an hour when squash will be soft. Remove from oven, cut open and remove seeds. Serve in half shell or scooped out.

Season with salt and pepper and butter if desired.
Or if you are a die-hard cook, prepare in the usual way. Cut fruit, remove seeds, wrap in foil paper, bake and serve as above. Foil wrapping is needed with cut fruit or pieces become too dry.

Garden Gossip

We knew spring was coming too early when we had the delightful warm spell in March and the magnolias came out in full array. Sure enough the next day freezing weather had blasted them and all the pink blossoms were dead and brown.

Miss Marie Hamilton, 135 W. High St., told me her Magnolia Soulangeana suffered dreadfully during the first hard freeze. However, her magnolia Nigra which always blooms several weeks later was unharmed. The Nigra is a darker color and trees do not often attain a size of more than 10 feet.

Dr. Ray Carroll has a charming magnolia in the backyard at his office. It's flowers are much smaller than those of the Soulangeana and it blooms later.

Ohio springs are a disappointment. It seems to me we go from winter into summer. In fact there are people like the orchardists who view early warmth with a very dim eye.

On the other hand, Ohio autumns are getting longer each year. We had a superb lingering autumn in 1965. For instance, the Milton Griests, 420 S. Court St., had roses blooming far into December. The Griests have floribundas as a foundation planting around their front porch.

Mrs. Katherine Hawkes, Tarlton, found an iris blooming in her yard in late November.

Mrs. Donald H. Watt, 540 N. Court, reported a very late blooming iris in her garden the last of October.

And on Christmas Day the Charles Boggs' house had late chrysanthemums blooming in front of their south porch.

Lolabel Black, formerly of Circleville, has a gardenia with almost 30 blooms. This is a very pampered plant which she brought back from Florida one year. It gets a daily syringing and is on a table with wheels. Mrs. Black sees that it gets plenty of sun. She just pushes the table around to all the sunny windows. One of her daughters said it was the only gardenia on wheels she had ever heard of.

Mrs. Eugene Hanson, 445 Northridge Road, tried her hand at growing red berried pyracantha which she imported from Arizona. It's in a very protected location, the planter to the south of the house. But no, to all appearances, it did not get through the winter. This type of pyracantha has berries as red as Christmas holly.

Miss Mary Shortridge presented her cousin, Dorothy Jones, with an amaryllis. The plant bloomed Easter day much to Mrs. Jones' delight and Miss Shortridge has promised to take the plant home when it's finished blooming and give it the proper care during the summer and bring it back next winter.

The Carl Leists who live at 205 Northridge Road have a Japanese weeping cherry that is about to bloom. These trees are lovely. They are graceful and when in bloom give a misty effect!

Possibly the oldest weeping cherry in Circleville is the one belonging to Mrs. Ed Wallace on the bank of Hargus Creek near the N. Court Street bridge.

Clarence Radcliffe has two beautiful specimens of large leafed begonias at his cleaning establishment on E. Main St. Begonias like the moisture to be found at this place of business. And Clarence says that once or twice a week there's a little coffee break and they treat the plants to coffee.

Coffee grounds are said to be toxic. So don't follow Mr. Radcliffe's method just because the garden editor wrote about it... could be that coffee is toxic to some plants.

Neff Brothers Electric Co. has a fabulous fern in the south window of their store. This is an excellent specimen.

Mrs. Franklin Crites reports that bulbs have been planted near the sheriff's office.

The Frankfort Garden Club is planning a spring flower show at the Concord Grange Hall in Frankfort from 2 to 8 p. m. April 29. The theme is "Welcome Sweet Springtime" and Mrs. Charles Mootz, formerly of Kingston and Circleville, is in charge of staging. The public is invited.

Mrs. William Defenbaugh, 830 Atwater Ave., has added two Persian lilacs and a deutzia to her landscape planting this spring.

The Willison Leists, 360 Watt St., are planting redbud and dogwood.

We were talking with Mrs. Donald Watt the other day. She told us she had never been to Floyd Bartley's garden that she did not see something of interest and learn something she had never known before. We then asked her to write an article for the garden page about this garden and she promised she would do it as soon as the doctor gave her the "full steam ahead" signal. She believes will be about June.

Mrs. Ned Harden, Park Place, was given a Norse fire plant for her anniversary present by her husband. This is an entirely new plant to me and it is really stunning. It's a vine with bright red-orange blossoms.

When we met the Paul Johnsons at the garden show in Columbus we told them to be sure to look at the Norse fire plant in a certain place. They could not find it. This is one of the outstanding new houseplants on the horticultural horizon.

Last year Ned Harden gave his wife a bona fide Bonsai tree with quite a pedigree. About six inches high, it had been dwarfed by a Japanese master in the art of Bonsai. Mrs. Harden said it needed almost daily spraying with moisture. It gave up the ghost this spring when she was on vacation. The Hardens were not as sad as the garden editor because she wanted to do a feature on the only pedigreed Bonsai tree in Circleville.

Mrs. Lloyd Petty, Route 4, Circleville, has a miniature rose blooming in a west window. Roses are no bigger than a dime and awfully cute!

Forsythia bushes with butch haircuts seem very full of flowers. I am wondering if the big trimming could have been responsible or if the shrubs with butch cuts happen to be a very fluorescent type. Miss Mary Heffner, Mount St., had forsythias loaded with blossoms.

Kreig Book Fascinating Non-Fiction

"Green Medicine" by Margaret Kreig is as lively a book of non-fiction as you're likely to find.

It tells of man's search for plants that heal. It's the more exciting when the reader realizes that "plant doctrine" is not just a practice of the past, but that modern pharmaceutical firms are slugging it out with competitors and sparing no expense when on the scent of a new plant with a reputation (even a legendary one) for healing.

Margaret Kreig, a pre-medical student at the University of Illinois, did stints as a lady Marine and a fashion model before she became one of the editors of Parent's Magazine. She did much medical and scientific writing for this publication.

So she does have an excellent background of science. The book is nevertheless exciting and dramatic, as well as scientific and factual.

ONE CHAPTER is devoted to a search for Cortosone which scientists thought might be found in certain plants. This search started in Africa and ended successfully in Mexico. It was discovered that the Mexican yam is an excellent and cheap source of Cortosone.

The chapter, "The Incredible History of Quinine," is fascinating. Not only the search for the tree that would cure malaria but the intrepid searchers make a vivid and dramatic story.

The chapter on periwinkle is one with promise... not just because this familiar plant is thought to be helpful in the cure of cancer but because Margaret Kreig shows the reader how tireless are men's efforts in this field.

"Green medicine" is available at the Pickaway County District Library. Read it. And it might be you would like to buy it for your own bookshelves.

Violet Fancier To Attend Meet

Mrs. Loren Fogler, Route 2, Laurelville, left by plane Monday for Miami, Fla., where she will attend the National African Violet Society's annual Convention, scheduled for April 13-16.

The convention headquarters are at the Americana Hotel in Miami. She also plans to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thurston who recently purchased a home in Florida.

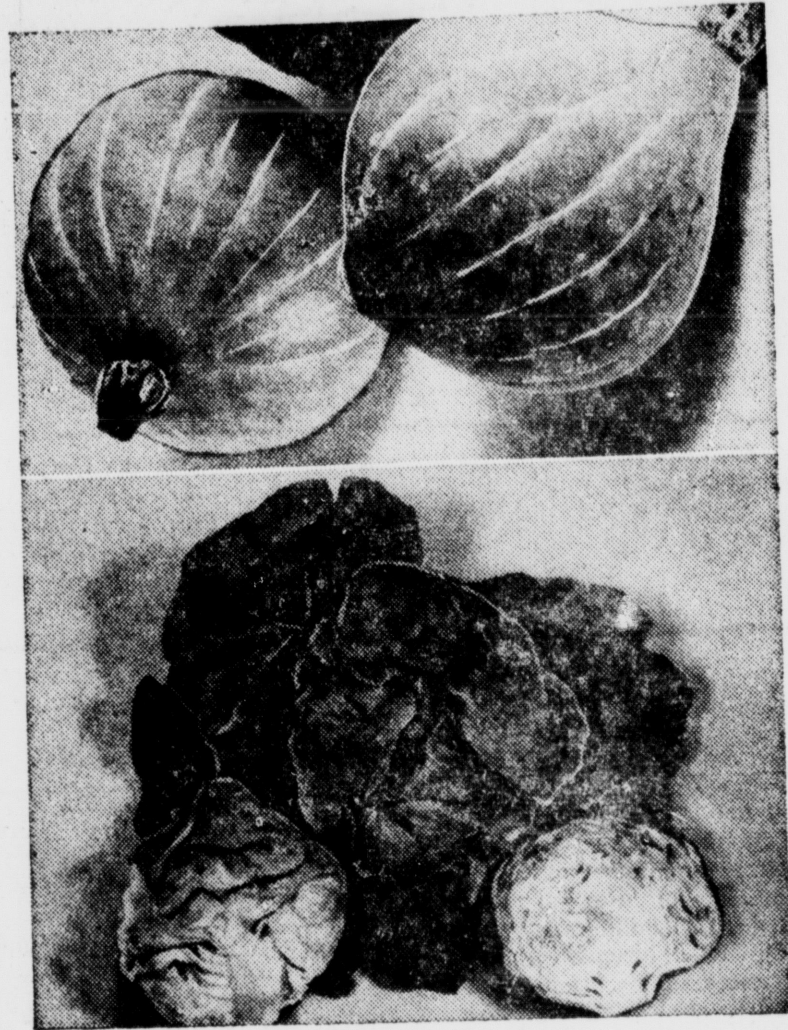

The Thurstons, who formerly lived in Hocking County, will return with Mrs. Fogler.

manse is gone and the new educational building in its place I wonder if the Presbyterians saved that grand specimen of Forsythia that bloomed with such brilliance every year. The shrub grew on the side of the porch near the church.

The M. E. Noggles, W. Union St., report that their Bonanza peach tree is in full blossom. This little dwarf is completely charming when in bloom. Fruit from it is large — in fact quite large.

Mary Ann Hildreth of Fairborn went through Floyd Bartley's files to procure some addresses for the committee of the Brooks Bird Club that was planning to honor Bartley at their spring meeting. Bartley noticed his files had been ransacked and he told his sister, Peg (Mrs. Kirby Drake) to stay out of his room. Mrs. Drake was a good enough scout not to give away the secret. Bartley apologized afterward to his sister.

Squash, Lettuce Are AAS Winners

ALL AMERICA VEGETABLE SELECTIONS — Gold Nugget winter squash is a bush squash and said to be delicious. Butter King head lettuce is heat resistant and heads are large and of fine quality.

Looking for the best available vegetable seeds? Try the 1966 All America Selections.

Winner in this annual competition are Gold Nugget winter squash and Butter King head lettuce. These seeds will be found in local stores.

All-America Selections has rigid testing requirements. Winners are unfailingly superior.

The AAS holds that the newest are the best. So even though gardeners may be well satisfied with winners of the past they are urged to try 1966 triumphs.

Squash 'Gold Nugget' is well named. Bred by Neal S. Holland, North Dakota, this late or winter squash should be a very popular home garden favorite. Of small, softball size, weighing 1 1/2 pounds, one fruit makes two or three delicious servings. Each compact plant usually produces five to eight fruits and all may be gathered when fully mature or after killing frost. Simply pull up the plant with fruit attached and store until wanted for baking.

Lettuce 'Butter King' is a larger headed 'White Boston' type. Height is about seven inches with an average head 5 1/2 inches in diameter and weighing 12.8 ounces at the Ottawa breeding station. Disease resistant, more vigorous from the start, larger and later than White Boston, slower to bolt, of better quality and more sun or tip-burn resistant are general observations.

A summary of judges' reports is that, while it may not perform as well in warm wet weather areas, perhaps with looser heads, it was highly regarded from eastern Canada to California and Mexico. This includes the central and plains states, even in hot weather.

This lettuce was originally bred in Israel from a 1944 cross and released there in 1955. Selections were made at the USDA Geneva, N. Y., station and in 1959 the Central Canadian breeding station obtained seed and made selections for five years before the AAS trial entry for uniform maturity, large heads, slowness to bolt and to become bitter or to tip-burn.

It is a joint introduction of the Canadian and United States Departments of Agriculture.

DISTINGUISHED BOTANIST — Floyd Bartley (right) is presented a plaque as part of the honors bestowed upon him by the Brooks Bird Club. Making the presentation is Harold Boecher of Hallsville, president of the club. The renowned field botanist also received an album of photographs, a book of letters written by friends and botanists from coast-to-coast and was guest of honor at a banquet conducted by the club in Wheeling W. Va. Bartley lives at Route 4.

Pickaway County Botanist Cited by Brooks Bird Club

Floyd Bartley, Route 4, was honored Mar. 5 when the Brooks Bird Club paid tribute to him as a distinguished naturalist and botanist at a banquet held in connection with the organization's spring meeting. The event took place at Oglebay Park, Wheeling, W. Va.

The honor came as a surprise to Bartley, long time member of the BBC, although the committee headed by Mrs. Harold Boecher of Hallsville had been at work garnering information and planning the event for several months.

Bartley was given the Executive Suite at the lodge during the weekend. As honor guest at the banquet he was presented with an album of photographs which included pictures of himself and BBC members on club forays, and a plaque and life membership in the BBC.

The third presentation was a book of letters written by friends and botanists from coast to coast.

THE BANQUET programs were four-page booklets, including a picture of Bartley standing near his old Ford so well known to Pickaway Countians. A biography written by Mrs. Paul Wachs of Circleville and used by the committee because of its conciseness and charm made up the bulk of the four pages. On the program cover was printed: "A Tribute to Floyd Bartley, Botanist."

Amusingly enough the popular Brooks Bird Club member was so busy nodding to friends that his table companions had to point out that the programs were in his honor.

Inside the cover the dedication read: "We honor Floyd Bartley for the many years he has shared his knowledge, leadership and enthusiasm with Brooks Bird Club as a field botanist. He has brought distinction to himself and to those who have worked with him in his perseverance to seek out the known and the unknown in the field of botany."

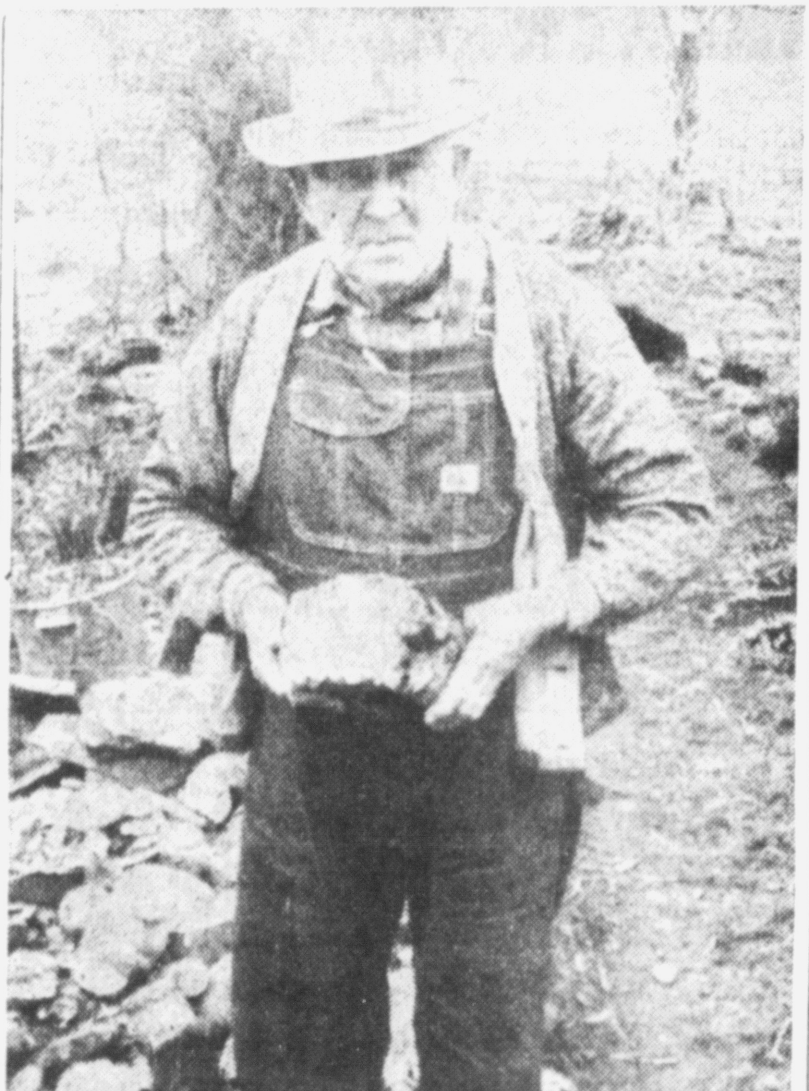

Bartley's sister, Mrs. Kirby Drake, was invited to the banquet to see her distinguished brother receive the plaudits of the BBC members. When Bartley saw his sister there he really knew that "something was up."

The book of letters, all from friends and admiring associates, is both a touching and proud tribute. Letters poured in from almost every state in the union, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, from Michigan to Florida. Letters came from old friends and new friends, from the young and not-so-young.

Most interesting perhaps were the letters from professional men, tops in the field of botany. And of interest were those from youngsters on their first lap of a botanical journey.

A PATTERN runs though this book of letters, widespread as the writers were. The pattern is one of keen respect for a fine field botanist. The letters also show gratitude from men of note who have needed and used Bartley's practical knowledge. Lastly the pattern shows affection and remembered pleasure of some of the funny adventures the writers shared with Bartley in his outdoor world.

A rather random sampling of the letter writers include the names of Arthur Cronquist, senior curator of New York Botanical Garden; Dr. Harold Robinson of Smithsonian Institute, Washington, D. C.; Earl Core, Dept. of Biology, University of W. Va.; William Gambill, assistant professor of Botany and Curator of Bartley Herbarium at Ohio University, Athens; Gustav W. Hall, assistant Professor of Biology, College of William and Mary, Williamsburg, Va.; Eugene H. Stevens Jr., Department of Sciences, Palomar College, San Marco, Calif.; Warren H. Wagner Jr., Secretary, American Association for the Advancement of Science, an affiliate of the Department of Biology at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor.

Fossil Collecting Botanist — Floyd Bartley, Route 4, is a widely acclaimed field botanist. Many people do not realize that this 78-year-old naturalist has been collecting fossils, too. When they heard this at Ohio University they accepted his collection with surprise. He has hundreds of species of fossils including this piece of petrified wood he is holding. It is Lyptodinium which grew to tree-like size in pre-historic times. The picture was snapped on Bartley's birthday.

Ohio State was represented by Charles Dambach, director of Natural Resources; C. Wayne Ellett, associate professor of Botany and Plant Pathology; Dr. Burt, bryology expert; and Clara Weishaupt, herbarium curator.

Letters arrived from well known naturalists, including Charles Goslin, Lancaster; Ed Thomas, columnist for a Columbus newspaper; Mrs. Ellen Bliss, former Pickaway Countian now residing in Sarasota, Fla. (Miss Bliss had a wild flower and bird sanctuary near Orient which now belongs to her son); Mrs. Ruth McCammon, exponent of Ohio's Nature Conservancy.

Local friends wrote, too. There are letters from Mac Noggle, Emmitt Crist, Emmett Barnhart and Mrs. Donald Watt.

Dick Wareham of Weston, Mass., wrote Bartley naming him as "Ohio's most famous 20th Century amateur botanist."

ONE OF the most amusing letters was from Johnny Vanmeter of near Piketon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Vanmeter. The Vanmeters are a nature loving family and when Johnny's older sisters and their parents went on forays with Bartley, Johnny was something of a pest. He was more interested in Floyd Bartley as a pal and camping partner than Floyd Bartley as a botanist who recognized on sight three fourths of Ohio's flora.

Johnny, now 25 and to be married come June, wrote: Floyd — As one of the "Vancouver Brats," I want to thank you for all I know about plant identification.

"Hmmm! Looks like grass—

"Hmmm! Smells like grass—

"Hmmm! Must be grass! John Vanmeter

Seeds Removed After Baking

Gold Nugget winter squash, the All America Selections 1966 vegetable winner, may be prepared in a novel way.

Wash the squash, place the whole fruit on a pan or on aluminum foil. Bake at 300 degrees temperature for about an hour when squash will be soft. Remove from oven, cut open and remove seeds. Serve in half shell or scooped out.

Season with salt and pepper and butter if desired.

Or if you are a die-hard cook, prepare in the usual way. Cut fruit, remove seeds, wrap in foil paper, bake and serve as above. Foil wrapping is needed with cut fruit or pieces become too dry.

Giant Amaryllis Displayed At Berger's Dietary Area

Mrs. Letha Winner of Stoutsville recently arrived at the Berger Hospital dietary department, where she is employed, with a brilliant red Amaryllis. She wanted to prove to her co-workers that she was not spoofing when she told them she had a plant with four huge five-inch blooms.

According to Mrs. Winner, the bulbs were purchased at a supermarket sale. The first bulb cost 98 cents and for a penny extra she received a second. Both were planted in a mixture of barnyard manure and garden soil in gallon containers.

During the summer foliage appeared. In the fall containers were taken to the basement and watered only once a week.

In December containers were brought upstairs, placed in a sunny window and on one tall bloom stalks soon appeared. It had two stalks. The other, alas, had none.

MRS. WINNER says directions for growing came with the bulbs. The flowers remained in blossom almost three weeks. The second stalk is now about to blossom. It also has four buds.

The non-blooming amaryllis appeared perfectly healthy and Mrs. Winner is puzzled why the second bulb did not set a bloom stalk.

FBI Computer To Be Key to Crime Center

WASHINGTON (AP) — The policeman on the beat may soon be augmenting his traditional tools of the trade — gun, night stick and handcuffs — with a lightning-quick national crime information system virtually at his fingertips.

A patrolman in Portland, Maine, may spot a suspicious-looking car bearing California license plates. He telephones his dispatcher, who operates a typewriter-like device that puts him in instant contact with Washington.

Here, the FBI's computerized National Crime Information Center grinds out a speedy reply. Within a minute, the Portland patrolman is told that not only has the car been stolen in Sacramento but the alleged thief is wanted on a murder charge. And he takes it from there.

The FBI's headquarters here — already the nation's fingerprint capital — will become its crime information center once the national crime network goes into operation.

While the bureau acknowledges it may be several years before the highly complex computer systems are fully developed at local levels, it hopes to go into business next January in cooperation with several existing local systems like those in California, St. Louis and New York City.

Eventually, the network is expected to link all 50 states and the District of Columbia and to be supplemented by an information exchange with Canada.

The goal is to make available to every law enforcement agency a nationwide crime information service in a matter of seconds. The electronic network and high-speed computers are seen as an effective weapon against the increasing mobility of jet-age criminals.

In its early stages in January, the crime bank will be confined to an up-to-date record of stolen automobiles, other stolen property, and some wanted persons.

BOMB TIEUP IN VIET—Here is the harbor in the curlicueing Saigon River, with ships at anchor waiting to be unloaded. Political turmoil in South Viet Nam has forced some ships to wait six weeks to unload, which is one reason for the bomb supply pinch.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — When the full story behind the Buddhists' maneuvering in South Viet Nam comes out it may prove to be one of the slickest pieces of Machiavellianism in our time.

The Buddhists are trying to overthrow their government. The U.S. government doesn't seem well-informed on what's going on among the Buddhists and what's driving them on, if it is, it's keeping the information to itself.

For that reason no one seems able to say whether the Buddhist leaders are in a deal with the North Vietnamese Communists to seize the South Vietnamese government, ask the Americans to leave, and let the Reds take over.

It might appear at first, if this is what the Buddhists have in mind, that they are operating on sheer gall since this country is backing the government of Premier Nguyen Cao Ky and has enormous forces in Viet Nam.

But they might be banking on something else to help them carry the day: divided American opinion.

When the history of these days is written the effect of what has happened here in the field of one of America's most prized possessions — freedom of speech — may appear as a strong factor in the Buddhists' thinking.

President Johnson's policy on Viet Nam has been under attack from many quarters in this country — particularly in the Senate and the academic world — and perhaps he can't gauge its full effect on him.

For instance: Would he have pursued the war harder, been less reluctant to bomb North Viet Nam more extensively if the critics weren't on his back? But any effect on Johnson is only part of the total possible effect of the criticism.

For example: What has been the effect of Americans' criticism of their own government on the thinking of the North Vietnamese Communists about continuing to fight?

Or on the South Vietnamese Buddhists about their chances of overthrowing their American-backed government and getting away with it?

Johnson apparently has felt confident, despite the criticism, that he had the support of a majority of Americans for his Viet Nam policy.

But the criticism here at home could leave no doubt in the minds of the Vietnamese. North and South that American thinking was divided not only about how to wage the war but even about continuing it at all.

For instance, Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., said the American people are going to "repudiate this administration and they should. You just can't justify our being in war over there."

He called the U.S. position in Viet Nam "shockingly immoral" and said that if the South Vietnamese were ever to choose freely a Communist government, the United States should support it.

If you were a Vietnamese and heard that — and much more — you wouldn't be under any illusion that Americans were 100 per cent behind Johnson in trying to crush the Communists to seek peace.

And if you were a Vietnamese, American division might seem to you a symbol of uncertainty and hesitation and therefore an inducement to action which otherwise might have seemed hopeless to you.

Search for Moss Produces Flowers

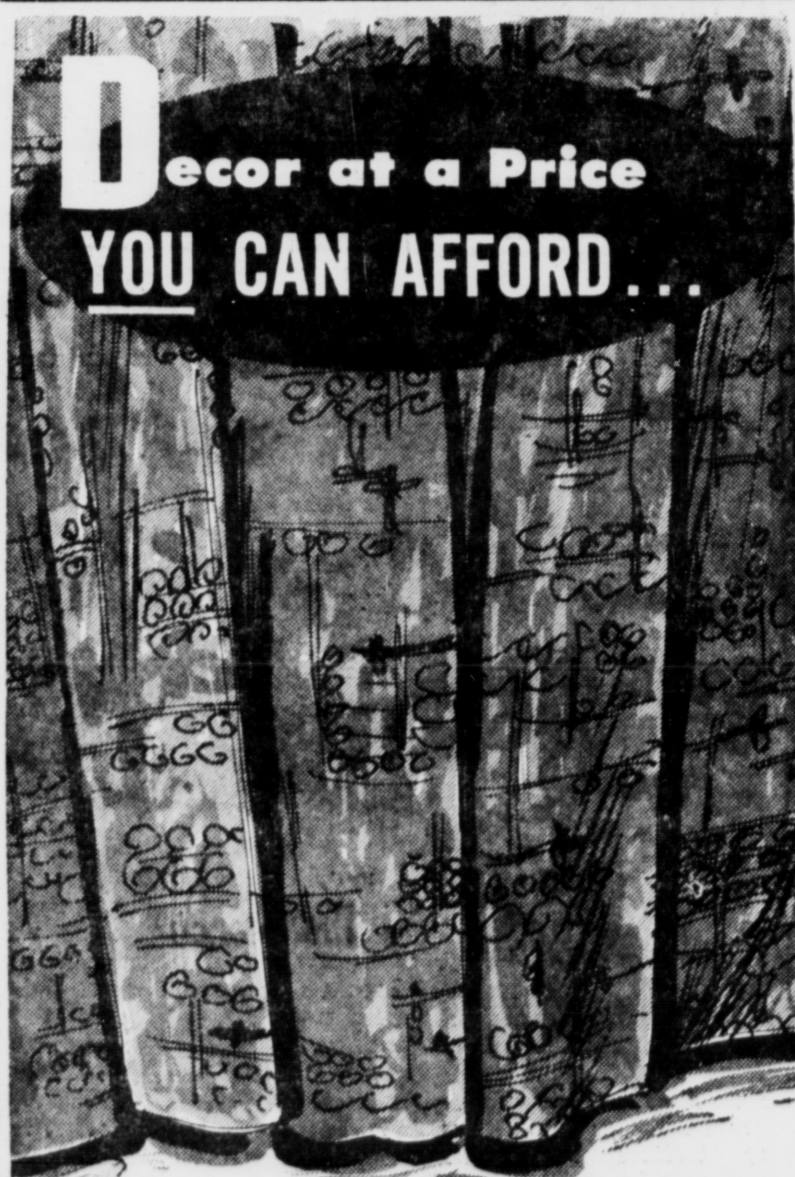

Floyd Bartley was hunting mosses Mar. 20 in the vicinity of the new Deercreek Reservoir.

He reported a dozen or more wild flowers in bloom at this time. On his list were Shepherd's Purse (Bursa-Bursa pastoris), Cutleaf Toothwort (Dentaria laciniata), Common Hensbane (Lamium amplexicaule), Rue Anemone (Synedon Thalictrifolia) Harbinger of Spring (Erythronium albidum) Spring Beauty (Claytonia virginica), Sessile Trillium (Trillium sessile) Large Flowering Trillium (Trillium grandiflorum), Sharp-lobed Liverleaf (Hepatica acutifolia) Twinleaf (Jeffersonia diphylla), Bloodroot (Sanguinaria canadensis), Spice-bush (Benzoin aestivale) and Virginia Cowslip (Mertensia virginica).

Wildflower lovers will have to brave cold weather to find these early bloomers according to Bartley. The naturalist seemed a bit surprised himself that so many flowers were blossoming.

MOM GOT A MINK FROM HER NEW FLAME!

...AND DAD APPROVES.

Any new flame who passes out mink stoles doesn't have to be good-looking. But Mom's is.

Stands just under five feet tall. Strong, silent, dependable type; maybe a little on the square side.

And painted a wonderful color that just matches Mom's eyes.

Mom's new flame is her new Gas furnace. Every time she thinks of it she feels warm all over.

But about that mink. Dad figured it out: Gas heat costs about one-third as much as the flameless kind they had in their last house. Gas saves Dad up to several hundred dollars in heating bills every winter, thousands of dollars over the life of the mortgage. And that's a mink stole or two, or a new car, or a college education in anybody's bankbook.

There's more to the Gas heat story. Gas heat is fresh-air heat, circulating filtered clean air that whisks tobacco smoke and cooking odors out of the air so fast you hardly notice them. Modern Gas heat warms every room evenly, with no chance of chilly floors or clammy basements.

Next time you fall in love with a home you're building or buying, make sure it has Gas heat.

Think of all the things you can do with the money you save with Gas.

Giant Amaryllis Displayed At Berger's Dietary Area

Mrs. Letha Winner of Stouffville recently arrived at the Berger Hospital dietary department, where she is employed with a brilliant red Amaryllis. She wanted to prove to her co-workers that she was not spoofing when she told them she had a plant with four huge five-inch bulbs.

According to Mrs. Winner, the bulbs were purchased at a supermarket sale. The first bulb cost 98 cents and for a penny extra she received a second. Both were planted in a mixture of barnyard manure and garden soil in gallon containers.

During the summer foliage appeared. In the fall containers were taken to the basement and watered only once a week.

In December containers were brought upstairs, placed in a sunny window and on one tall bloom stalk soon appeared. It had two stalks. The other, alas, had none.

MRS. WINNER says directions for growing came with the bulbs. The flowers remained in blossom almost three weeks. The second stalk is now about to blossom. It also has four buds.

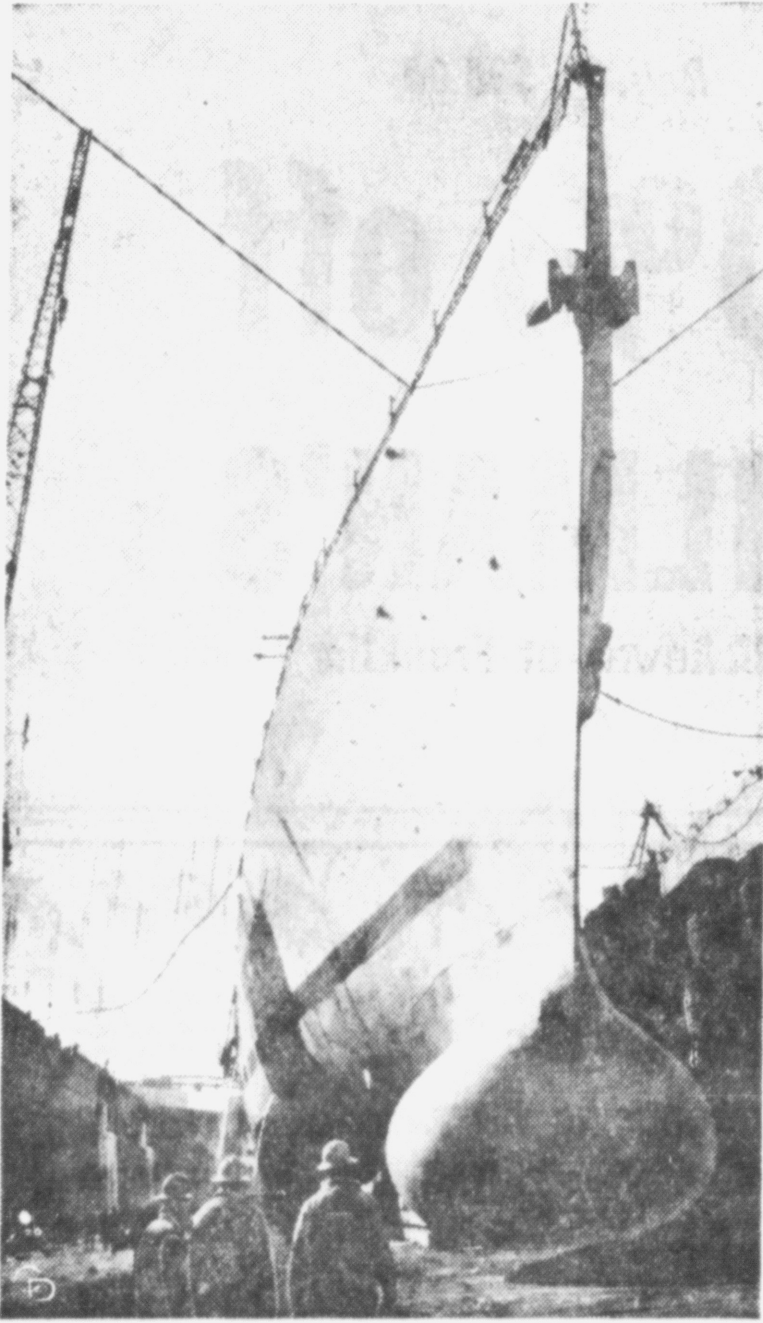

The non-blooming amaryllis appeared perfectly healthy and Mrs. Winner is puzzled why the second bulb did not set a bloom stalk.

FBI Computer To Be Key to Crime Center

WASHINGTON (AP) — The policeman on the beat may soon be augmenting his traditional tools of the trade — gun, night stick and handcuffs — with a lightning-quick national crime information system virtually at his fingertips.

A patrolman in Portland, Maine, may spot a suspicious-looking car bearing California license plates. He telephones his dispatcher, who operates a typewriter-like device that puts him in instant contact with Washington.

Here, the FBI's computerized National Crime Information Center grinds out a speedy reply. Within a minute, the Portland patrolman is told that not only has the car been stolen in Sacramento but the alleged thief is wanted on a murder charge. And he takes it from there.

Officers were installed Wednesday evening during a dinner meeting at Pickaway Arms of the Southern Ohio Society of Professional Engineers.

Charles DeVoss, Columbus, installed the following officers for 1966-67: Charles G. Smith, 145 Montclair, president; William I. Cargo, Chillicothe, vice president; and Marshall Baum, Chillicothe, secretary-treasurer.

Thirty four members and their wives attended the session.

Guest speaker was William Woodward, representing The Electric Co., who spoke on "Man's Pathway from Darkness To Light."

The Southern Ohio Society is part of the Ohio and National Societies of Professional Engineers. It represents all of the registered professional engineers and surveyors in Pickaway, Adams, Brown, Clinton, Fayette, Highland, Madison, Pike and Ross Counties.

Soil Stewardship Week in Ohio Set May 15-22

"Crisis in the Countryside" will be the theme of Soil Stewardship Week, May 15 to 22, for about 2000 Ohio churches, according to Don Archer, conservationist for the USDA-Soil Conservation Service.

"This week has been set aside as a time when churches across our nation may pause and consider the importance of a productive countryside to the strength of a nation — to understand that proper stewardship of soil and water is of real concern to all our people," Archer said.

"Soil Stewardship Week is a time for Americans to pause and consider the vital importance of the countryside of our nation," Archer said. "It is a time to realize that more Americans worry about overweight and dieting than they do about being hungry. A countryside, rich in natural resources, makes this possible. Proper stewardship of these resources is extremely vital."

Ohio' Soil and Water Conservation Districts make it possible for local churches, clubs, and organizations to observe Soil Stewardship Week in various ways. They provide church programs, program inserts, films, and resource material for sermons. Archer suggested that any group desiring to hold a special observance of "Soil Stewardship" should contact Pickaway Soil and Water Conservation District office.

Power Fails For 2½ Hours In OSU Area

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "Long Day's Journey into Night," scheduled as a play at Ohio State University Wednesday night, took the real-life for of a power failure that blacked out the campus for 2½ hours.

A substitution circuit breaker went haywire shortly after dark, sending a surge of electricity through a power line that was too much for it to handle.

University Hospital, the Student Union, the library and University Hall where the University Theater was getting set to perform Eugene O'Neill's "Long Journey . . ." were key spots affected.

Television station WLWC, northwest of OSU, was off the air about an hour.

The campus daily newspaper did much of the work on its Thursday issue by candlelight before the lights came back on after 9:15 p.m.

The big hospital switched to auxiliary power for necessary purposes. There was some confusion and commotion in the lobby, however, as visitors weren't permitted to see patients during the lights-out.

As for the play, it turned into a community sing with the cast leading a crowd of 800. Only occasional flashlight beams pierced the auditorium darkness.

Judge Rules Milwaukee To Get Baseball

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Baseball today faced a May 16 deadline set by a Circuit Court judge who says either Milwaukee must get a new team for 1967 by that date or the Braves must return to Wisconsin.

Judge Elmer W. Roller ruled Wednesday night that the National League had violated Wisconsin's antitrust laws by allowing the Braves to move to Atlanta.

Calvin Griffith, owner of the Minnesota Twins, said "there are so many facets to this thing, that it's pretty hard to say this is the end of it. It most likely will finally end up in the United States Supreme Court."

Judge Roller's decision called "the refusal of the National League and the failure of the American League to issue a franchise to Milwaukee County was a concerted refusal to deal in restraint of trade and commerce within Milwaukee County."

"The Braves shall be, and they are hereby restrained and enjoined from playing the home championship schedule of the Braves in any city or place other than in the county of Milwaukee."

But the jurist left a way for baseball by ruling that his decision would be stayed if the defendants submit a written plan for expansion by noon, May 16, that would give Milwaukee a major-league team for 1967.

The 176-page decision also called for $55,000 fines against the defendants — $5,000 against each of the 10 teams and $5,000 against the National League — and also orders them to pay costs for the 38-day trial and the months of preliminary maneuvers.

Most baseball executives greeted the decision with a, "No comment," but Los Angeles Dodger owner Walter O'Malley was quoted by the Milwaukee Sentinel as saying: "It seems utterly impossible to comply with the court's decision."

The suit, brought by Wisconsin under the state's so-called Sherman Act, had attracted nationwide attention because it challenged baseball's longtime immunity from anti-trust legislation.

Baseball's defense was built around a 1922 Supreme Court decision that found the game was not involved in interstate commerce and hence not subject to regulations, such as anti-

Wellington Second Sacker At Capital

Jimmy Wellington, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wellington, 508 Springhollow Road, is a member of the Capital University baseball squad.

A shortstop at Circleville High School, Wellington is playing second base at Capital.

Coach Bill Bernlohr's baseballers start the action by hosting Kenyon in a single game Thursday and then traveling to Muskingum Saturday for a doubleheader.

The baseball fortunes will depend upon the performance of seven lettermen as well as several promising newcomers. Leading the squad will be Capt. Terry Brown, a Marysville junior, who will hold down the second base job. Rounding out the infield will be three other lettermen: Ron Bash, sophomore; Ashley, first base; Mike McGrath, sophomore; Columbus Aquinas, shortstop; and Bill Rieker, senior, Cleveland, third base.

The pitching chores will be handled primarily by Gary Walters, a Newark senior, who was 4-2 last year and finished tenth in the Ohio Conference with a 1.70 ERA. Backing him up will be Gil Hager, sophomore, Thornville, and John Blum, sophomore, Logan. All are right-handers.

Behind the bat will be Mickey Winebrenner, a sophomore from Syracuse, O., tabbed by Coach Bernlohr as the squad's most promising hitter. The outfielders will be chosen from lettermen Jack Pettorini, a junior from Columbus St. Charles; Glenn Tobey, sophomore, Ramsey, N. J.; Roger Leasure, freshman, Bellefontaine; Bob Klise, freshman, Galloway; and Ed Neiss freshman Coshocton.

But in his decision, Judge Roller found that the league and its members had "combined and conspired among themselves to monopolize the business of major league professional baseball within the state of Wisconsin."

Hawks Knot NBA Playoff With Lakers

ST. LOUIS (AP) — If there were any disappointed St. Louis Hawks after Wednesday night's rousing 131-127 victory over the Los Angeles Lakers, it probably was Bill Bridges. He kept moaning about the rebound shortage.

"I can't believe I got only 11," he said.

But the way the Western Division playoffs of the National Basketball Association heated up the reason was clear. Almost everything that went up, went in.

To prolong the best-of-seven series to a seventh game, the Hawks had to overcome the Lakers' 50.5 per cent shooting from the field with 52.5 per cent of their own. Their shooting forced the teams' return to Los Angeles for the deciding game Friday night. The winner will meet the Boston Celtics for the NBA title.

"There weren't many baskets given away," said Hawks' Coach Richie Guerin, who hit eight of 16 himself, "although you wouldn't think so from the score."

Laker Coach Fred Schaus agreed.

"I was disgusted after we lost Sunday," he said. "but I thought we played well in this game. We made the Hawks take the shots we wanted them to take, but they hit them. They're not usually an outcourt shooting team."

Koufax Is Clobbered In His First 1966 Start

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sandy Koufax must have had stage fright.

What else could account for his fumbling performance in his first start of the 1966 baseball season?

Koufax, who ended his 32-day holdout and his movie career at the same time two weeks ago, was battered from the mound in the fourth inning Wednesday night in Houston's 7-6 victory over Los Angeles.

The brilliant left-hander glittered in the first inning, but there was nothing award-winning about his performance after that. He gave up five runs on five hits and two walks and was around long enough only to pitch to one batter in the fourth inning.

Although Koufax encountered such games last season — however rare — he never made an error. He did against the Astros, though, and that's what led him off the stage.

After Sonny Jackson beat out an infield single with one out in the third inning, Jim Wynn grounded to the mound, Koufax fumbled the ball for an error, and the Astros had two runners on.

Dave Nicholson struck out for

TV Youth Baseball Tryouts Rescheduled

Cold weather and snow forced postponement of tryouts in the Teays Valley Youth Baseball league last week.

The sessions have been rescheduled Saturday.

Girls ages 11 through 15 and boys 13, 14, 15 are scheduled for tryouts at 9 a. m.

Boys nine through 12 are slated at 1 p. m. and boys 7 and 8 at 3 p. m.

Philadelphia's Wilt Chamberlain still holds Big Eight records for most rebounds (36) and most points (52) in one game and for best one-season and career averages in scoring and rebounding.

140 Hungry Golfers Vie For Azaleas

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP) — The "hungry golfers" tournament, the 18th annual Azalea Open, began today with a field of 140, composed chiefly of lesser lights on the PGA tour and area players.

Most of the stars are at Las Vegas, Nev., for the Tournament of Champions or are leisurely making their way to Dallas for next week's tournament.

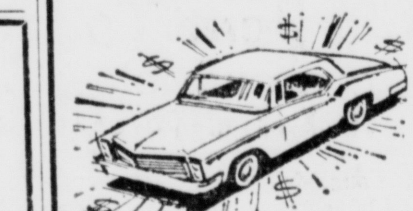

In their absence, the less skilled and a sprinkling of top players are competing for a purse that is modest by today's standards.

Officials say the minimum purse of $20,000 may be nearer $30,000 when pay-off time comes after the 72nd hole Sunday.

Randy Glover, the sturdy little Florence, S.C., professional who has been winning money instead of tournaments, staked a claim to the role of favorite with an eight-under-par 64 in Wednesday's pro-amateur preliminary. He missed the competitive record for the 6,700-yard Cape Fear Country Club course by one stroke.

Glover collected $42,000 in official money last year to rank 19th on the PGA roster.

Although Koufax encountered such games last season — however rare — he never made an error. He did against the Astros, though, and that's what led him off the stage.

After Sonny Jackson beat out an infield single with one out in the third inning, Jim Wynn grounded to the mound, Koufax fumbled the ball for an error, and the Astros had two runners on.

Dave Nicholson struck out for what would have been the third out, but Bob Aspromonte singled for one run and Joe Morgan clouted a homer for three more.

Koufax finally retired the side only to have John Bateman lead off the next inning with a triple and retire Koufax.

The Dodger ace, who last year won his first start plus 25 more, thus departed with a fielding average of .000, a mere 1,000 points below his showing in 1965 when he accepted 46 chances flawlessly.

The Dodgers will settle for a little more flawless pitching.

In other National League games, Pittsburgh whipped Atlanta 6-0, San Francisco defeated Chicago 4-0 and Philadelphia nipped St. Louis 3-2 in 12 innings. Rain washed out New York at Cincinnati for the third straight day.

After Morgan's homer gave the Astros a 5-3 lead, John Roseboro tied it with a two-run homer. The Astros finally won it in the ninth when Chuck Harrison singled, was sacrificed to second and raced home as Rusty Staub singled.

Baltimore is doing the Robinsons' two-day haul in Fenway Park to a combined 7-for-18 including four homers and six runs batted in.

It's really a simple step. First Frank Robinson works over an opposing pitcher. If the hurler still shows any signs of fight, Brooks Robinson steps in and finishes the job.

The Robinson boys continued their steady tattoo against the Boston Red Sox Wednesday as the Orioles completed a two-game sweep 8-1. In the only other American League game played, Minnesota used an eighth inning home run by Tony Oliva to get past Kansas City 5-3.

Rain and cold weather postponed Cleveland's game at Washington and Detroit's date at New York.

The Robinsons practiced their thunder and lightning routine on Dave Morehead after the Red Sox starter had struck out the first two batters he faced. Then Frank pounded his second homer of the season and Brooks followed with his No. 2.

That was enough for Jim Palmer, who limited the Red Sox to five hits and walloped a two-run homer of his own in the second. Paul Blair ripped a bases-loaded double for three more runs in the eighth.

The homers brought the Robinsons' two-day haul in Fenway Park to a combined 7-for-18 including four homers and six runs batted in.

Mansfield Set To Host Relays

2 Owens Marks Still Standing

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP)—In 1933, a Cleveland East Tech sprint star sped the 100-yard dash in 9.6 seconds and the 220 in 21.2 seconds.

The performances skyrocketed fabled Jesse Owens into the national spotlight where he was destined later for even greater acclaim, particularly in the Olympics.

Owens' two dash standards, set in the Mansfield Relays, have withstood the furious challenge of literally thousands of cholaistic track stars for 33 years.

They'll try again this weekend in the 35th running of the Mansfield classic, and probably come away empty-handed.

Mansfield Malabar's swift 10-lane, rubber-asphalt track gives today's challengers a better shot at the record book but Owens' marks remain the oldest in the meet's history, and the toughest to crack.

Last year, nine records were broken here and in 1964 eight fell by the wayside. If the weather is dry, at least a dozen could crumble under the assault of the almost 2,000 athletes in the competition.

Some 192 teams are entered in the glamorous meet, a record 65 from out-of-state. The entries come from Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Kentucky and there are 42 runners and jumpers from different parts of Canada.

The four-mile relay Friday afternoon opens the program with 17 events crammed into a four-hour period Saturday afternoon.

Cleveland schools have dominated the Relays in recent years and Glenville nipped East Tech by four points to capture the '65 event.

But East Tech has won here nine times, the most titles for any school, and has finished second on six occasions.

Ironically, the year that Owen set his marks, East Tech finished second with 39 points. Mansfield won the event with 39.50 points.

Port Wine, winner of California stakes at Hollywood Park last summer, is the son of Porthouse — Hukilau.

Cancer Fund Will Benefit From Jamboree at Derby

A Country and Western Jamboree will be held 1-5 p. m. Sunday at Derby Twp. School.

All proceeds from the musical show will be contributed to the Pickaway County Cancer Crusade.

Some of the country and western stars that will appear are as follows: Tex Wheeler, radio and TV personality, who will serve as master of ceremonies; Little Wayne Hobbs and his Country Wranglers from Dayton; Kenny and Jeannette Shoemaker, West Jefferson; Sarah and Nicky Drum, Marysville; Donnie Bowsher and his band, Mt. Sterling; Potts Brothers, London, O.; John and King Foglesong, Lancaster.

Other top entertainers in the country and western music field will make appearances and entertain.

THE JAMBOREE is being organized by Allen Mason of Derby, a cured cancer patient. He has been working in close cooperation with the Pickaway County Chapter of the American Cancer Society.

Mason pointed out that the Cancer Society is still helping him in acquiring colostomy supplies. He said the Jamboree will serve as a means of returning this assistance.

The country and western musical falls in line with Cancer Crusade Week which starts Sunday. The campaign will be conducted until the following Sunday, with volunteer workers scheduled to make contacts on a countywide basis.

The society's motto this year is "Fight Cancer with a Check and a Check-up."

Monkey's Fetus Lives In Test Tube

RENO, Nev. (AP) — For more than 30 hours, the sometimes-kicking fetus of a macaque monkey, removed from its mother's body, lived in a test-tube world.

The breakthrough experiment was conducted by Dr. Donald E. Pickering, a pediatrician and head of the University of Nevada's Human Development Laboratory.

Scientists could view, for the first time, the development of a living, but unborn, animal whose reproductive cycle is virtually identical to a human's, Charles Armstrong, university president, said.

"It has the greatest scientific application for human development," he said.

For instance, Pickering said, experimenting with such a living fetus could have shown the deforming effects of the drug Thalidomide before it was given to expectant mothers.

The first sign of disease might be spotted in a visible fetus when it might not turn up in the living animal until years later, he said.

The fetus was removed by Caesarean section Monday, 106 days after conception and about 60 days before normal birth. It continued to receive nourishment from the mother by the umbilical cord.

Three Injured While Working

The majority of persons who received emergency care in Berger Hospital Wednesday were injured while at work. Four persons were treated and released.

Robert Hawks, 25, of 121 Wilson Ave., injured both eyes while welding at the Circleville Metal Works.

The mountain roadway links up with the Ho Chi Minh Trail in neighboring Laos, the major infiltration route to South Vietnam.

In the South, Air Force and Navy jets set off three secondary explosions followed by 11 more blasts in 90 sorties against what appeared to be a Communist ammunition dump 65 miles northwest of Saigon.

For the first time in the war, the number of South Vietnamese troops killed in a week of fighting dropped below American battle deaths. This was considered a reflection of the diminished activity of government troops during the political crisis.

The U.S. military command announced that 95 Americans were killed, 501 wounded and four missing in action in the week of April 3-9 compared with 101 killed, 690 wounded and nine missing the week before.

The new casualty report increased American combat deaths to 2,505 and the number of Americans wounded to 15,228 since January 1961.

A Vietnamese spokesman said 67 government troops were killed and 204 missing last week compared with 155 killed and 26 missing the previous seven days. The government does not disclose its wounded figure.

Australian, New Zealand and Korean forces listed a total of 15 men killed and 25 wounded last week as opposed to the previous week's toll of 18 killed and 51 wounded.

Communist losses were put at 785 killed, a decline of 177, and 140 captured, an increase of 67. Allied officials make no estimate of enemy wounded.

University Denies Providing CIA Front

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan State University was charged today in a magazine article with having provided a front for Central Intelligence Agency operatives in Vietnam. A university spokesman said the article was inaccurate.

The accusation was made in the April issue of the monthly magazine Ramparts, which said MSU also bought guns and ammunition for South Vietnamese security forces during the regime of President Ngo Dinh Diem, who was deposed and slain in 1963.

Termining the article "full of distortion and plain fabrication," an MSU official said the university's Viet Nam project was undertaken merely to provide advice for setting up police organizations and establishing a civil service program.

"We did not knowingly hire any CIA men — and when we found out about their role, we dropped them," said James Denison, director of university relations and assistant to MSU President John Hannah.

Denison denied guns and ammunition were purchased by MSU for the Vietnamese government. However, in its capacity as adviser, the university sometimes made recommendations on what equipment might be needed by security forces, he said.

MSU's international programs have ranged around the world in such areas as Nigeria, Turkey, Brazil and Okinawa.

Most of the overseas operations are designed to help governments get started on projects such as agricultural planning, police administration and school programs.

Long-Range Effect Seen In Cocktail

NEW YORK (AP) — A cocktail before dinner can relax tensions temporarily, but its long-range effect may be to make the boss, the mortgage and the kids tougher to take than ever, says an expert on alcoholism.

Whether one drink or ten, liquor inevitably calms a man down but then, without exception, sends him above his normal anxiety level, says Dr. Stanley Gitlow of the New York Medical College.

In a speech to the National Council on Alcoholism Wednesday night, Gitlow took issue with physicians who recommend before-meal drinks to soothe the tired and perplexed businessman.

The doctor, who described himself as a "social drinker," called such advice "misguided" and said liquor "cannot be used to dispel a medical need."

"Several drinks or even one," Gitlow said, "are going to make things difficult the next day."

Gitlow said experiments have shown that alcohol's sedative effects reach a peak about two hours after intake. When they begin to wear off, however, alcohol level in the blood remains high and psychomotor activity or anxiety goes up, he said.

"You have the situation," the doctor said, "where a fellow falls asleep easily after having a few drinks, but finds himself up early the next day. The anxiety has outweighed the sedative element."
